Nixon asks to be excused from testifying

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lawyers for former President Richard M. Nixon asked U.S. District Judge John Sirica today to excuse Nixon from testifying in the Watergate cover-up trial.

The request was made in two motions to quash subpoenas issued for Nixon's appearance at the trial by one of the defendants and by the government.

Sirica refused to state the grounds cited in the motions but they were believed to claim that Nixon's health will not permit him to travel for at least a month.

The former president is in a hospital in California for treatment of phlebitis and a blood clot in his right lung. His doctor said earlier in the week Nixon should not travel for up to three months.

In a statement, Sirica said the motions to quash the subpoenas will be kept under seal "until the court has had an opportunity to review them thoroughly."

The judge received the motions while he continued for the third day the meticulous task of selecting jurors for the trial.

In the first two hours today he had questioned only two members of the pool of 144 persons left from the screening in the first two days. One of those was excused.

The questioning is going on behind locked doors in Sirica's courtroom, which has been prepared for the long trial ahead with 175 sets of earphones to enable jurors and spectators to listen to the tapes as they are introduced into evidence.

But those not in the courtroom will not be able to hear the controversial White House tapes.

In a letter memorandum to Sirica, Chief District Judge George L. Hart Jr. said the radio and television networks cannot receive copies of any of the tapes admitted into evidence.

Hart said he understands that typed transcripts will be placed into evidence and available to the news media, adding "that would appear to constitute more than adequate disclosure to the public of what the tapes contained."

Meanwhile federal prosecutors linked one new name to the conspiracy case that has brought five Nixon loyalists to trial on criminal charges of obstructing justice.

In making the claim of newly discovered evidence the prosecutors said they made add other names to the list of alleged conspirators.

The five defendants, John D. Ehrlichman, H.R. Haldeman, John N. Mitchell, Kenneth W. Parkinson and Robert C. Mardian, appeared to take the snail's pace in stride.

With the jury selection process not half completed, it appeared that the first testimony in the trial will not come until the middle of next week at the earliest.

But the forces that will shape the trial continued to converge, nonetheless.

Richard M. Nixon's lawyers were expected to ask Sirica to excuse the former president from testifying at the trial on grounds that his health will not permit it.

Ex-convict involved in mishap

CARUTHERSVILLE — Dwight Butler, an often-arrested key figure in a reputed investigation into the activities of New Madrid County Sheriff W. L. "Cowboy" Ramsey, has been arrested again.

This time the rural Gideon ex-convict, who is still wanted by Mississippi authorities for parole violation, was arrested in Dunklin County for driving while his license is revoked following a traffic accident at 11:20 p.m. Wednesday on Highway 25 near Holcomb.

"Butler had been released Sept. 26 from the Pemiscot County jail on his own recognizance at the recommendation of prosecutor Art Stephenson," Sheriff Thad Shelly said today.

On July 17, Butler was arrested in Pemiscot County on a driving while intoxicated charge and later was linked to a fraud charge. He draw a 30-day suspended jail sentence and had his license revoked on the DWI charge and was to have appeared in Magistrate Court today to face the fraud charge.

At the time of the July arrest Butler was supposed to be in New Madrid County jail, and Sheriff Ramsey claimed Butler was working as an undercover agent for his department. His office also told Pemiscot County authorities that Butler was supposed to be in the hospital at the time of his arrest.

Butler has been accused by former New Madrid County prisoners of ordering their

Funds sought for new Dexter school

DEXTER — Dexter school officials are seeking funds for the construction of a new junior high school through a bond issue referendum tentatively set for Nov. 19.

The exact amount of the bond issue will not be determined until further cost studies have been made by the architect, bond attorneys and the board of education.

"This isn't an overnight decision," Supt. Thurston Hill said of the planned construction. "We've been considering possibilities for many years. The new junior high building has always been part of our long range plan, but we couldn't take action until the other buildings were paid off."

Hill explained that the proposed building is the last step in a long range construction plan first initiated in 1949.

In that year construction started on Central Elementary School, which was finished two years later.

At approximately every five-year interval since then, another major construction has taken place.

Southwest Elementary School was started five years later, and the high school was built in 1961. In 1968-69, a 10-room addition was built to one of the schools, and now the junior high building is being planned.

"We're in pretty good shape right now," Hill said. The district is free of debt and has been able to even go so far as to decrease the tax rate in recent years.

Hill said he is not worried about Dexter taxpayers rebelling at the thought of paying slightly higher taxes for better schools.

"The people in Dexter have always been dedicated to good school," he said. "They've always been good to finance and support the schools. In the 38 years I've been here, they've never defeated a tax increase."

Knowing there is a limit to everything, Hill stated, "You don't want to go past that limit. You don't even want to ask them to."

The new junior high building will contain 14 classrooms, two science rooms, an art room, a home economic room, a special education room, a choral room, a band room, an industrial arts room, a physical education facility, kitchen and cafeteria, a library, a clinic, several small work rooms and offices.

The building will house 52,958 square feet of floor space in a single-story structure and will be electrically heated and air-conditioned.

If the bond issue is approved, the district also plans to build five additional classrooms on to the high school building.

Hill said the new high school classrooms will relieve the pressure currently felt at the school which is now so crowded that trailers are being used for classrooms.

The junior high building also would relieve overcrowding pressure on the elementary schools by placing sixth grade students in the new facility, Hill said.

Hill said enrollment in grades six, seven and eight will remain high for a number of years since enrollment in the elementary schools is growing.

It is hoped the building can be finished and in use by the 1976-77 school year, Hill said.

Preliminary work is already taking place. Pilot

I-55 section to be opened to traffic soon

A 12.7-mile section of Interstate 55 in Pemiscot County will be opened for traffic Oct. 7, according to Lionel T. Murray, District 10 engineer for the Missouri State Highway Department.

The highway section runs from Hayti south to Cooter and is the final segment of the Interstate 55 route to be opened in Missouri.

Murray said all construction work has not been completed and that motorists should use care when traveling the section. Uncompleted work includes shoulder construction, guardrail installation and erosion control measures.

Work on the section began early in 1972 at a cost of $14,075,000 and included 15 bridges, widening of four bridges, construction of a 24-foot wide concrete lane and resurfacing of the present Highway 61 route which will become the southbound lane of I-55.

The road incorporates the latest safety features and should provide relief from the frequent accidents which occur along this segment of road, Murray said.

$80 stolen from purse

The theft of $80 from a purse at Sikeston Convalescent Center, 103 Kennedy Drive, was discovered about 5 p.m. Wednesday, according to police.

Police said the purse was in the ladies' dressing room when the theft occurred.

Home gutted by fire; dog survives flames

Two persons received minor injuries Wednesday night when fire gutted the Vida Kirkwood home, 112 Dixie St., but a puppy, trapped inside as the house burned, survived without apparent injuries.

The fire apparently broke out about 8:50 p.m. when an electrical connection in the ceiling short circuited. The fire quickly spread through the six-room frame home and forced Mrs. Kirkwood and her nine children to flee the house.

One of Mrs. Kirkwood's sons was overcome by smoke and was revived with oxygen at the scene, according to Fire Chief Larry Linnemeyer, who said the boy, whose name he did not learn, declined hospitalization.

Volunteer Charlie Stroud received a puncture wound in the left heel. He did not require hospitalization either, Linnemeyer said.

The puppy was discovered huddled in a corner of the bathroom by firemen after the fire had been extinguished. The firemen were drawn to the dog by the sound of whining.

Linnemeyer said the dog, which was more terrified than injured, was covered by a piece of either the ceiling or a drawer which, with the water from the fire hoses, provided enough protection to keep it alive.

Linnemeyer said the family lost all of its possessions, and the house was a total loss.

Firemen had just returned to the station at 12:15 a.m. today when they were called to a burning farm house four and a half miles south of Miner on Route HH.

Linnemeyer said the Miner Fire Department responded to the fire call, so the Sikeston truck returned to the station after Linnemeyer saw that the house could not be saved.

The vacant farm house reportedly belonged to Cecil Godwin of Sikeston, Linnemeyer said.

At 4:50 p.m. Wednesday, firemen were called to corner of Ruth and South West streets to wash down spilled gasoline following a traffic accident.

THE SELLERS OF
SHOE STRINGS

The metropolis of Fairtown in the country of Acirema had a new shopping center in which were numerous dealers. The mayor and city council considered them as a tax base. They were a target for every drive. Money was hard to make, and in an effort to attract more trade and get people into their stores, some of the dealers ran a special sale on shoestrings and chewing gum. Competition was keen, and the price kept dropping until it was way below "wholesale."

Not only were the regular customers buying extra shoestrings and chewing gum, but other dealers were coming in droves to take advantage of this bargain. One of these dealers, not wanting to lose more money, called a meeting at a nearby restaurant. Detective Anonymous was tipped off about the meeting and bugged the establishment.

At about this time the lawyers decided they were not getting enough for wrapping up the moot questions; or in collecting your accounts, wanted bar rates. The real estate dealers agreed to raise their commission. If you didn't want to pay it, then sell your house yourself. In this case it always seemed hard to get a loan, because apparently the loaners had some kinship with the dealers. The TV and washing machine fixers agreed they should get more for changing your tubes or fixing the valves. The office machine boys insisted on getting more to manhandle your typewriter or adding machine. The barbers, not to be outdone, insisted you either pay them extra or clip your own. The medicos wanted higher prices for probing the proboscis. Everyone seemed to have his hand out. The most popular word was "more."

The good people got a little hot under the collar at all this gigging, and brought pressure on the General Attorney to do something about it. After two grand juries, the General Attorney, to quiet this uproar, finally brought the merchants who had been selling shoestrings and chewing gum to trial for violating the monopoly laws. Although this way of getting evidence was illegal, the judge found these dealers guilty on the basis of what Detective Anonymous came up with, and levied a heavy fine, with threat of jail sentence if they did it again. The fact that this method of getting evidence was not according to Hoyle made no difference. The others, being a service, were exempt.

The facts are these: in Fairtown or other cities of Acirema, you couldn't qualify for lily status by selling shoestrings or chewing gum. Service was the lily.

THIS IS DOWNRIGHT SILLY

A famous daily newspaper columnist recently published a list of those who had given $50 to $100 donations to the campaigns of Congressman Hungate and other candidates, inferring that the givers were looking for favors.

How silly can a news writer get? This newspaper has donated $50 to $100, sometimes more, to dozens of campaigns, and in the over fifty years the editor has been here, did so without expectation of special favors or economic gains.

Dozens of other friends of candidates have done the same.

Sometimes these gifts have been for party reasons, sometimes (and more often) because we liked the candidate, thought he'd make a good public official and were willing to provide financial as well as lip service to help him get elected.

We can understand where there might be some ulterior motive where large money gifts are made, but we seriously doubt if any one ever donated $50 or $100 for the purpose of getting back any dividends in either money or favors.

THE PRESIDENT'S FATEFUL DECISION

Long Island Press

Now with one stroke of the pen, President Ford has dealt a severe blow to the doctrine of equal justice. Mr. Ford has in effect subscribed to a double standard.

Burlington (Vt.) Free Press

President Ford in granting the pardon did the right thing at the right time under the circumstances. The so- called pardon was eminently justified and we warmly applaud it.

New York Post - At best, millions of Americans will believe he ineptly failed to recognize the meaning and consequences of his decision. At worst, they will ask whether this was the deal he made with the man who appointed him to be carried out when an indictment appeared imminent.

Philadelphia Evening Bulletin

The American people may not want to see a former President jailed, but they do want an accounting and an admission. They want to know that the government is indeed one of laws and not men, a government of equal justice.

Newsday

It does appear, though, that a subtle form of plea bargaining has taken place in which Nixon's evidence on Watergate will be made available while he is protected from prosecution. We would have preferred that the courts make this decision, but it's possible that the ends of justice may yet be served.

Rutland (Vt.) Herald

If he were tried and convicted of wrongdoing, most Americans would probably agree with many of his supporters and critics, who have said they didn't want to see him punished further. But a blanket pardon in advance flouts the law that all Presidents, including Nixon and Mr. Ford, are sworn to uphold.

Christian Science Monitor

We are deeply disturbed about the implications of the Nixon pardon for the moral leadership of the United States.

Arkansas Democrat

We may actually hear more now than if he had not been pardoned. He will not be able to escape by pleading self-incrimination. Now he can be forced to testify and can be indicted for perjury if he lies.

Alabama Journal (Montgomery)

No matter how you may rationalize it Mr. Ford's decision amounts to a presidential finding of guilty. The very word "pardon" in the legal sense, implies previous criminal misconduct.

Worcester Evening Gazette

Norfolk, Va., Ledger- Star

Mr. Ford's mistake is not in pardoning the former President, but in giving him a blank- check release in advance of any indictment, trial, conviction and sentencing.

Atlanta Journal

Mr. Ford's action means that the era of the imperial presidency is not yet ended after all.

Arizona Daily Star

The pardon put the blinders on justice.

The American way has now been aborted to mean that one can, if high enough in position, be above the law that he can be pardoned even before being indicted and going to trial.

Wall Street Journal

Perhaps President Ford made a mistake in acting so swiftly and suddenly to pardon former President Nixon. But on this question even more than most, criticism is easy and decision is hard.

The clashing considerations that forged the dilemma before Mr. Ford are entirely familiar. On the one hand, no one really wants to see Mr. Nixon go to jail, and even the spectacle of him standing in the dock would convey a banana republic flavor to onlookers from other nations and other generations. On a personal level, Mr. Nixon's life has been destroyed, and the penalty he has paid is quite sufficient to deter wrongdoing by future Presidents. More would seem vindictive.

On the other hand, no one should be above the law, and Mr. Nixon has not paid even lip service to the possibility of his legal guilt. Despite the judgment of all 10 Republicans on the Judiciary Committee, the extent of his wrongdoing apparently is still unclear to a not insubstantial minority of the American people; a court verdict might help. With John Dean going to jail and a whole list of aides about to stand trial how is it possible to justify leniency for the man who was on top?

These are two exceedingly powerful sets of arguments. We find it hard to argue much with anyone from either side who is absolutely confident of his own convictions, though we do wonder whether absolute confidence is quite the appropriate attitude for anyone. For our own part the one thing we have been persuaded of is that the question should be settled not simply on the technicalities of the law but as a matter of high politics. The deciding factor must be the future good of the nation. But, once you have said that, what do you do?

Clearly Watergate has the potential of becoming an American Dreyfus Affair. in the sense of shaping and distracting political life for a generaion. But to avoid that, which force must be dissipated? There are those who believe Mr. Nixon was hounded from office, who view further prosecution as spiteful. There are those who believe he was imposing a police state, who will now believe he escaped final judgment. Neither is a majority but each is far larger than to take two groups that exercised politics in the last two decades, the John Burch Society or the Students for a Democratic Society.

The anti- Nixon forces have won the larger question, and their bitterness over a flawed victory probably will recede more quickly than would the losers bitterness over total humiliation.

Since this was the President's predisposition, it is probably though not certainly better for him to face the question now rather than later. He could have postponed it in the hope of something would turn up but instead he chose the clean decision. Clearly, he was worried about the time to be consumed by the legal process. From his own standpoint it is better to pay the costs now than in say October of 1976. But from the nation's standpoint too, it is better not to have the after math of the impeachment crisis dragging on indefinitely.

The danger is that by so quickly taking unto himself a bit of Watergate. Mr. Ford may revive the atmosphere of surly suspicion that has had so little time to subside. But he has certainly proved he is not a President afraid to make the tough decisions and we can at least hope that in the end his pardon for Mr. Nixon will prove to be another step in putting Watergate behind us.

New York Times

President Ford speaks of compassion. It is tragic that he had no compassion and concern for the Constitution and the government of law that he has sworn to uphold and defend. He could probably have taken no single act of a noncriminal nature that would have more gravely damaged the credibility of this government in the eyes of the world and of its own people than this unconscionable act of pardon.

Rather than calm public passions and restore a fundamental sense of national unity, Mr. Ford has ignited fresh controversy. It might have stirred less public outrage if the President in what amounted to secret and discreditable plea bargaining with his predecessor had insisted on a frank and forthright confession of guilt. Instead he settled for an unctuous guileful statement from Mr. Nixon in which the former President admits nothing specific and skillfully blurs the issues. The Justice Department's deal with former Vice - President Agnew last year was seriously questionable; Sunday's arrangement sinks below even that poor precedent.

DO WE TURN

Mistakenly, a great many people, especially among the young, have blamed the inquisitive questioning minds of science for most of the real or imagined ills that currently beset society. They reject the technology -- or supertechnology -- that has accompanied America's highest achievement.

This rejection has brought the country to a point where Dr. Karl G. Harr, Jr., president of the Aerospace Industries Association, has been compelled to declare, "we are at the critical point where America must make up its mind. We have to decide as a nation whether we really enjoy having the highest quality of life ever known or whether we will be satisfied to fall back into the pack economically and in our standard of living. This is not a matter of national price but of the very survival of the life- style we have, heretofore, held to be important. Indeed, on this decision, may rest the vital security of the nation itself."

Dr. Harr shows how high technology has been the primary source of U. S. strength. Technology has given us the edge in competing with the world in the matter of cheap labor. It has offset our lack of a strong, competitive position worldwide in raw materials. Thus, "If we are to continue to enjoy a vigorous economy and maintain a satisfactory balance of trade -- not to mention the problem of maintaining national security -- we will have to stay out in front technologically and particularly in the area of supertechnology .." In other words, it is time we checked our slipping sense of values and national priorities.

KGB ACTIVE IN U. S.

The Soviet secret police, or KGB, are not confining their activities to the Soviet Union. Columnist Paul Scott has revealed that the KGB has been operating in Washington, D. C., against U. S. citizens.

Earlier this year Wilson Lucom, publisher of an anti-communist news-letter, decided that members of the Soviet Embassy staff should have the opportunity to read the brilliant and inspiring writings of Alexander Solzhenitsyn, the exiled Soviet author. At his own expense, Lucom prepared and mailed out copies in Russian of some of Solzhenitsyn's writings to the homes of the embassy staff members.

Members of the KGB, who operate in this country under the guise of embassy employees, were furious. The agents confiscated all of Solzhenitsyn's writings that they could from the other Russians. Then several agents went to Luxom's place of business during the night. They filled his locks with a gummed substance so that they could not be unlocked. Then they tied a rubber hose and a hangman's noose to the front door. The deadly threat was clear.

The KGB continues to harass Lucom by calling his home at all hours of the day and night, then hanging up without saying a word.

Lucom refuses to be intimidated. He plans to continue his anti- communist activities, not only in the United States but throughout the world wherever communism threatens the freedoms of men. We need more people like Lucom, who will take positive and direct action against the evil of communism. HLH.

ECONOMICS MADE EASY

WASHINGTON -- I listened to the economic summit for two days and it was a great inspiration to see so many learned men from all walks of life tell us why the country is in such a mess. Although there was some disagreement, this is what we now know for sure.

The Republicans are responsible for inflation because of their tight money policies, high interest rates and giving in to big business at every turn.

The Democrats are responsible for inflation because of their large welfare programs, reckless government spending and catering to the interests of labor.

In order to cure the upward spiral of prices, we have to make more money available for business investment.

We must make bank loans more difficult for business investment.

Arthur Burns of the Federal Reserve Board is responsible for the recession we are in.

George Meany is responsible for the recession we're in.

There is no recession.

We cannot solve our economic problems until we bring down the cost of fuel, particularly oil and natural gas.

The only way we can get more fuel is to raise the price of oil and gas to encourage the oil companies.

Congress is responsible for the crisis because of the large amounts of money it has voted for unneeded government programs.

Congress has to vote new funds to keep the country from going into a depression.

Unless we have a tax cut, the economy will never recover from the doldrums it is in.

The only way to lick inflation is to raise taxes and keep the dollar from being devalued.

The Arabs are responsible for all our troubles.

There is no inflation. Our main problem is stagflation.

We must stop selling agricultural products abroad so we can bring down the price of food at home.

We must increase our food exports so we can have a more favorable balance of payments.

Labor has to show more responsibility when asking for wage increases.

Labor is being penalized for the mistakes of management.

We must have wage and price controls to ward off disaster.

Introduction of wage and price controls would be a disaster.

The people who are suffering the most from inflation are the poor, the sick and the old.

The people who are suffering the most from inflation are the brokers.

We cannot lick inflation overnight.

Inflation must be licked overnight.

Summit conferences are the best way to resolve differences in economic philosophies.

Calling back Nixon's economists to tell us how we can win the battle against inflation is like asking the Italian general staff to tell us how to win World War II.

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:
The Senator from Ashland Oil

The bluff, burly Cook champions Ashland's interests on the Senate floor and accepts special favors, in return, from the oil company. The relationship between Cook and the company is so cozy, according to Senate sources, that Ashland has sent ready-made speeches to Capitol Hill for the Senator to deliver.

Cook, in turn, has used the company's jet as a commuter plane to wing back and forth between Washington and his Kentucky constituency. Just three weeks ago, a Cook aid hopped the Ashland shuttle to attend the funeral of a prominent Kentucky Republican.

An Ashland vice president, Clyde Webb, also has the run of the Senator's office. His daughter, Betty, is on the Senator's payroll. A handsome, hand- carved goose over the Senator's chair was a gift from Webb.

The oil executive is also a familiar figure around Cook's winter home outside Sarasota, Fla. In fact, Webb used to dock his small fishing boat at Cook's place, where the Senator used it as his own.

This historic seat was arranged for Webb, of course, by the obliging Senator Cook, who happened to be cochairman of the inaugural committee.

Marlow Cook, with his silver thatch and solid bulk, has become a formidable figure in the Senate. Able and articulate, he has a reputation as an operator in the backrooms and a brawler in open debate.

His political hero was the late Sen. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill., who had the shaggy appearance of an affectionate Saint Bernard. He won the uncontested title of Wizard of OOze by being able to talk his way out of the most flagrant inconsistencies.

Cook is also capable of evoking a certain soulful appeal, and he can turn on the ooze. One of his favorite sayings, moreover, is that "consistency is the hobgoblin of little minds."

But in the terms of Senate husbandry, Cook is less the affable Saint Bernard than the temperamental prize bull. He is easily aroused and can become a one- man stampede.

It is the political custom of Kentucky voters to choose one Senator from the hinterlands, the other from the urban centers. Cook is the urban Senator, a Louisville lawyer, who was just about everybody's "Man of the Year" in Kentucky before he was elected to the Senate and became Ashland's man in Washington.

My associate, Jack Cloherty, spent a month establishing the links between Ashland and the Senator, an investigation which took Cloherty from Capitol Hill to Kentucky.

The likeable Cook, of course, had an explanation for everything. He acknowledged that he has accepted speech material from Ashland, but denied that it came in the form of ready- made speeches. He used several sources, he said, in the preparation of his speeches.

But insiders, whose reliability has been tested, reported to us that an Ashland emissary has delivered prepared and polished speeches to Cook's staff man on the Senate Rules Committee, Joe O'Leary.

The cautious O'Leary said he couldn't recall this happening, although he admitted working with Ashland in drafting Cook's energy speeches. He sought research from other industry sources as well, he said.

He contended that Cook was not "Ashland's man" and cited an issue on which the Senator and Ashland disagreed. The record shows, however, that Cook has consistently fought for more incentives for the oil industry and has repeatedly gone to bat for Ashland. When the Canadian government threatened to cut off the crude oil supply to an Ashland refinery, for example, Cook raised an uproar.

The Senator argued that Ashland, a power in Kentucky, was a constituent and, therefore, was entitled to his senatorial services. But no other constituent, except possibly the tobacco companies, gets such devoted service from Cook.

He claimed at first that he had taken only "three or four" free flights in Ashland's plane. When we cited our evidence, however, he breezily acknowledged that he may have taken 20 to 25 free flights. Indeed, this is a low estimate, although his use of the Ashland jet has waned in the last year. He not only commuted to Kentucky on the oil company's plane but used it to ferry his entourage to the Kentucky Derby each year.

Cook has also collected at least $10,950 in campaign contributions from Ashland executives, including $1,000 from company president Orin Atkins and $500 apiece from Webb and his wife. Cook pointed out that Atkins, at least, gave a matching $1,000 to his Senate opponent, Gov. Wendell Ford.

Cook's benevolence toward the oil industry has not gone unrecognized, for that matter, by the Texas oil barons. He has taken in at least $7,750 in out-of-state oil money.

There is no doubt that Ashland Oil has sought out and systematically courted Senator Cook. The situation is an ominous reminder of the days when the robber barons controlled the Senate.

Inside Labor

by Victor Riesel

Meany calls it 'Nonsense': Europe's labor drives to put itself on corporations' Boards of Directors

WASHINGTON -- A strange phenomenon is seeping across the free world. And it's time to spotlight it: labor leaders abroad and some here believe the cure for many social evils, including inflation, is to give union chiefs a piece of ownership action. In fact, a piece of ownership itself though they use the word co-management.

The proposal is simple-- put the union officials on the corporate boards of directors. Free. Gratis. Simply because the union represents the workers in the plants.

In Britain, where I discussed it at length with national union officials and leaders of the governing Labor Party, they call it "industrial democracy." In Germany, "co-determination." In France, "co- gestion (management)." In Norway, a total "strategy for change" inside society.

This phenomenon isn't just a conversation piece in intellectual circles. As AFL-CIO leader George Meany, who believes it to be pure "nonsense," said recently: "There isn't a prominent labor leader in Germany ... that isn't on four or five boards."

And in Europe I learned of a worldwide International Labor Organization (ILO) conference on the subject held in Norway between Aug. 20 and 30. The U.S. was among the 60 tripartite national delegations sent to this Oslo "Symposium on Workers' Participation in Decisions Within Undertakings." No reference here to moving the bodies. "Undertakings" is ILO jargon for businesses. Our delegation consisted of five men, most of them quite skeptical, including Chase Manhattan Bank's very knowledgeable Paul Shaw, vice president, employee relations; Bill (Wimpy) Winpisinger, general vice president of the AFL-CIO Machinists, a tough bargaining trade unionist; Paul Weinberg, director employee relations, American Express Co. They were official U.S. delegates to this conference called by the ILO's Labor Law and Labor Relations Branch, headquartered in Geneva, Switzerland.

So you can expect the new "movement" to begin sweeping the U.S. What does America's Mr. Labor think of it?

"To me, it is an absolute piece of nonsense," George Meany replied recently, when questioned by a newsman.

Since virtually all foreign labor movements are led by Socialists and Communists, it's very much worthwhile, indeed, to put Meany's view on record.

"As part of a worker policy or a trade union policy, no," said Meany when asked about co- management recently.

"Completely, opposed to it, completely opposed to it. The German system is a case in point. The first system was called co- determination in Germany and we saw that develop. We told the Germans at the very outset, back in 1949 when this thing started, we told them we couldn't buy it. That is/was (sic) their business if they wanted to do it. And, remember, this was being done by a trade union movement that we helped to build -- the Western German Federation of Labor. We built it with American Federation of Labor money. We supported the organizers."

It's worth breaking in on Meany here to point out that this was during the era when the Soviets were pouring thousands of agents and millions of dollars into Western Europe to capture labor organizations everywhere. The AFL fought back. Note that the Stalinists used their GPU (KGB) to infiltrate.

But back to Meany:

"I was sending 1,800 Care packages over there every two weeks back in 1946 and 1947 to trade union representatives that had been in exile or had been in concentration camps under Hitler."

Meany adds: "Co-determination is absolutely and completely out. It will not work.

"Now, how does it work in Germany? Well, Ludwig Rosenberg (former president of the German Labor Federation) was on seven boards of directors of German corporations ... in the final analysis, I never saw a union that was worth a damn to workers unless it was free -- completely and absolutely free. Free to make its mistakes, free to gain its experiences and free to mature as a lot of unions have."

Meany concluded that co-determination "doesn't do a damn thing, in my opinion, for the workers."

Nor for the corporations, so far as I have observed in over 50 lands I've visited, where there is some co-management even to a slight degree on the shop- floor or "workplace" level as the ILO thinkers put it.

But the "worker participation" thing is growing. All sorts of conferences (many of them for private profit run by promoters who wouldn't think of giving their employes "co-decision making") are cluttering up meeting halls.

Actually, as Meany points out, German co- determination started as a move there after the war to guarantee there'd be no repetiton of Hitler's seizure of major corporations such as Thysen or Krupp. But it's gotten out of hand and extends far out of the coal, iron, steel, automotive and other big industries. It's working its way down to the local stores and soon enough the restaurants.

In the U.S. it's just beginning to flutter. But soon enough, those who fancy themselves the philosophers of American labor will begin pushing co- management. Then you can change your paper money into gold bars and bury them in the Swiss Alps.

Cinderella float named most outstanding entry

NEW MADRID — A Cinderella float was chosen the most outstanding entry in Wednesday night's 15th annual American Legion Fall Festival kiddie parade.

Top honors for the most unusual entry, titled "Support the New Madrid Indians", went to Dawn Weaks, 3, riding a miniature Shetland pony. She also took first place in the decorated pet division.

Riders on the Cinderella float, which also took first place in the float category, were Laura, Charlotte and Christy Cravens, Angela, Michael and John Allgier, Sara Rost, Charlotte Ramsey and the Cravens girls' mascot dog, Rascal.

Both entries received bicycles and $3 cash awards.

The second place float winner, titled "The Little Engine that Could", was entered by Justin and Holly Hunter, Christian and Eric Hunter, Mark and Becky Grobmeyer, Chad and Whit Henry and Malynne Ellington.

"Goldilocks and the Three Bears," third place entry in the float division, featured Kaki LaValle as Goldilocks, Laura Christy Carlson, Poppa bear; Rene Weaks, Mama Bear; and Matt LaValle, Baby Bear.

Christy Fowler and Keith Neal took first place as "Bonnie and Clyde" in the television characters division.

Second place winners were Timmy and Amy Lynn Prince and Amy Beaher, who portrayed a honey bee and two flowers. Jeff and Doug Glenn, dressed as Donald Duck and Micky Mouse, were third place winners.

Second and third place winners for the best decorated pets included: Missy Nowell and her dog, dressed as clowns, and Rachelle Jacobs and her dog, depicting Little Bo Pepp and her lamb.

Best decorated bicycle awards went to Emily Curtis, first; Bob Pulliam, second; and Vaughn Hornburg, third.

Headlining festival activities tonight is a Junior Miss contest on Main Street at 8:30 p.m. in which 21 girls will compete.

Entries, not announced earlier, include Donna Wren, 14, of Conran; Michaelle DeLisle, 15, and Lisa Phillips, 15, of Portageville; and Dana Hendricks, 14, Penny Kolwyck, 14, Ruth Canady, 15, and Glenda Marshall, 15, of New Madrid.

NOT SHORT OF WATER

NORWALK, Conn. (AP) — "Water is one natural resource that we'll never run out of," according to Robert B. Hilbert, president of the American Water Works Assn.

"Unlike other natural resources," says Hilbert, "we have as much water available today as we did thousands of years ago. And we'll have just as much in 2074 as we have today."

He noted that the increasing need to recycle water is generally not because of water shortages. "Economically," he says, "it is more feasible to repurify and recycle water after it has been used once than to develop new water sources."

Women aware of dangers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Betty Ford's sudden ordeal with cancer has touched off a sympathetic reaction among women across the country and an awakening to the dangers they also face.

Ten thousand letters, more than 500 phone calls, over 200 telegrams and scores of flower arrangements have poured into the White House and Bethesda, Md., Naval Hospital since word came of Mrs. Ford's breast cancer operation Saturday.

Mrs. Ford was reported continuing to make a good recovery. A medical bulletin said she is on a regular diet and had gained almost full mobility of her right arm.

A spokesman for the American Cancer Society said telephones "have been ringing off the hook" with calls from thousands of women who want to make appointments with doctors and clinics for breast cancer examinations.

"It's a tragedy for Mrs. Ford, but she may have saved an awful lot of women's lives," said a spokesman for the American Cancer Crusade, which long sponsored an educational campaign to alert women to the need for early detection and period check-ups.

The outpouring of prayers, good wishes and hopeful advice from those who have recovered from breast cancer surgery like hers has been dramatic.

In only four days, the volume of mail at the White House appears to have exceeded anything First Ladies in recent years have received. Wives of senators have been helping Mrs. Ford cope with the flood of messages.

After more flowers arrived at the hospital than Mrs. Ford could possibly accommodate in the five-room presidential suite during an expected 10-day stay, President Ford appealed to those who might want to send flowers to contribute instead to the American Cancer Society.

It's still too early yet to tell how the donations to the cancer society will be affected by the appeal, a spokesman said. But even the White House is getting donations, many of them small although there was one check for $5,000.

A nun, who is a nurse in Teaneck, N.J., sent a "welcome to our club," message, reporting she celebrates her ninth anniversary of a mastectomy this month and has been encouraging others who have had them that they can live a normal life.

The bladderwort, a plant that lives under water most of the year, rises to the surface when it flowers. At blossoming time, the bladders fill with air and the plant rises to the surface.

1 seriously injured in traffic

One person was seriously injured and four received minor injuries in two area traffic accidents Wednesday, the highway patrol announced today.

Pat Staggs, 27, of Dexter received serious injuries in a one- car accident at 11:20 p.m. Wednesday .3 mile north of Holcomb on Highway 25.

The patrol reported the accident occurred when a northbound pickup truck driven by Dwight W. Butler, 31, of Gideon Route One sideswiped a bridge railing, ran off the highway and struck an embankment.

The driver received minor injuries, and both men were taken to Dunklin County Memorial Hospital in Kennett.

Two persons received minor injuries in a two- car accident at 10 p.m. Wednesday on Interstate 57 three miles west of Charleston.

The accident occurred when an eastbound car driven by Dawn Gilliam, 19, of Charleston overtook another eastbound car, driven by Artis Ivory, 19, of Chanute Air Force Base at Rantoul, Ill., at a high rate of speed. The patrol reported that Mrs. Gilliam applied the brakes of her car, which skidded 88 feet and struck the Ivory car in the rear.

Both drivers and a passenger in the Gilliam car, Delmar Gilliam, 24, of Charleston, received minor injuries and were taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston for treatment.

Billings approved for retention

SPRINGFIELD— Court of Appeals Judge William H. Billings of Kennett has been approved for retention as an appellate judge by the lawyers of the 44 counties comprising the Springfield District of the Missouri Court of Appeals.

Judge Billings received 405 favorable votes of the 439 ballots recently cast by attorneys in the judicial poll conducted by the Missouri Bar.

According to Clerk York Johnson of Springfield, the 92 per cent margin of approval for Judge Billings amounts to an endorsement by the lawyers for the Kennett judge's retention as an appellate court judge under the Missouri non-partisan court plan.

Johnson explained that the purpose of the Missouri Bar judicial poll is to inform the general public of the performance of judges selected under the Missouri plan.

Judge Billings, formerly circuit judge for Dunklin and Stoddard counties, has served on the Court of Appeals since January of 1972 and will be listed on the judicial ballot at the general election Nov. 5.

3 Portageville girls win honors

Sugar prices rise sharply in 10 years

By WANDA ATCHLEY
Daily Standard
Stoddard County
Bureau Chief

Housewives paid 39 cents for a five-pound bag of sugar in 1964, according to newspaper ads placed in local newspapers dated Oct. 9, 1964. This is almost unbelievable when compared to today's $2.15, an increase of $1.76 per bag, about 550 per cent.

I discovered these old newspapers recently while visiting a friend's home while she was in the midst of fall house- cleaning. After reading the various ads in the 1964 newspapers, we set out to visit local supermarkets and other merchants to compare them with today's prices. We were amazed at the results.

A 38- ounce bottle of cooking oil which sold for 59 cents in 1964 is now $1.98, an increase of $1.39 or 336 per cent a bottle

A one-pound can of coffee could be purchased for 59 cents in 1964. Today coffee sells for $1.39. Ground beef and bologna sold for 39 cents per pound. Consumers today must pay 99 cents. Cake mixes were advertised in the 1964 newspaper at two for 49 cents. A box of cake mix today averages 89 cents.

Beer drinkers in 1964 could purchase a six pack of any leading brand for 89 cents. A six pack of beer today will cost an average of $1.80.

According to prices compared, food, fuel, automobiles and accessories have shown the biggest increase in the last 10 years.

For instance, one automobile dealer advertised a medium priced 1964 model with full power, automatic transmission, radio, heater and white walls at $2,820, a small price when compared with today's prices. Moreover, this was a close-out price on the 1964 models.

Antifreeze sold for $1.39 per gallon in 1964. According to a Bloomfield merchant, his current price is $6 per gallon, and he expects the price to increase even more.

Can you believe snow tires at two for $19.90 or batteries at $8.88?

Another item showing a huge increase is gasoline. It was possible in 1964 to purchase gasoline as low as 29.9 cents per gallon at some service stations. The average price today is 52.9 cents per gallon — an increase of 23 cents per gallon.

In the 10- year period, many prices have doubled and in some cases have tripled or more. Thus, it is understandable why the spiraling prices have affected everyone, regardless of income.

Miss Rosemary Scherer won top prize for best of show in the teen division. She was awarded a cash prize of $75. Her outfit was made of blue denim trimmed with red stitching. The jacket also had red buttons and hand embroidery on the back.

Miss Scherer is a junior at Portageville High School and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Scherer of Portagebille Route Three.

Miss Rene DeLisle won first place in the sportswear class in the teen division and received $25 cash. Her blue and white double- breasted pantsuit was made of 100 per cent cotton.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe DeLisle of Portageville and is a senior at Portageville High School.

Miss DeLisle also received a blue ribbon in the cake-decorating contest. Her cake was made in the shape of a teapot, and was decorated with white icing with pink roses and trim and had matching teacups.

Miss Emily Eftink was second alternate in the formal class in the teen division. She recieved a cash prize of $10. Her floral dress was made of 100 per cent cotton with a honeycomb weave and accented at the V-neck with a blue rose. Miss Eftink is also a junior at Portageville High School and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Eftink of Portageville Route Three.

Prior to the Sew With Cotton contest, all three girls had been winners in 4-H competition.

Ann Landers

Husband is not blind to affair

Dear Ann Landers: A woman I work with (she is also a friend of mine) took a job with this company several months ago and is now having a red-hot affair with the boss. I am actually a third side to the triangle, but she doesn't know it. I want her husband.

He is the kindest, most honorable man I have ever met and he doesn't have a clue that his wife is cheating on him like crazy.

The boss has bought this woman some stunning (and very expensive) clothes and is building her a new home not far from his own residence.

I am itching to tell Mr. Blind-As-A- Bat what is going on, but if I do he will be terribly hurt, in addition to which he might guess my motives. I'd appreciate some on-target Ann Landers counsel. —Want Him Like Mad.

Dear Mad: M.Y.O.B., Lady. That husband might be blind as a bat, but he's not an idiot - and he can count, can't he? Surely he knows whether or not he can afford those stunning new clothes and that beautiful home that's going up. Me thinks the bat is in your belfry.

Dear Ann Landers: I am writing a letter that could save some lives. I hope you will print it.

The lifeless body of a 17-year- old high school senior lies in a casket today. The funeral will be tomorrow. He was a passenger in a car driven by another teenager. The boy who was driving had no legal right to be behind the wheel. His license had been revoked the week before. When he had the accident that killed his best friend he was exceeding the speed limit. The boy had been in trouble with the police at least four times because of his recklessness.

My question is, why didn't his parents ground him? Isn't that what parents are for? Is it not their responsibility to take control when a child demonstrates such poor judgment that he is dangerous to himself and others? Even wild animals cuff their young when they misbehave.

I hope every parent whose child drives a car will read this carefully and give serious thought to the driving history of his teenager. The time to crack down is BEFORE there's a funeral. —Another Mourner.

Dear Friend: Thank you for a letter that is sure to shake up some people. I hope teenagers especially will not view it as an attack or an attempt to limit their freedom. It is intended as an effort to keep them from killing themselves - or a friend.

Dear Ann Landers: Is there any SURE way to stop a deluge of unwanted mail? You once advised a woman who asked this question to write across the envelope "Return To Sender." Well, I tried it and the Post Office returned an enormous catalogue to ME and I had to pay the postage.

An insurance company in Pennsylvania sends us six identical, bulky envelopes of advertising at frequent intervals. A nursery in Iowa sent ten identical seed catalogues within ten days, all unsolicited. Such nonsense is a waste of paper, postage and man-hours. Now what, Ann? - Kaysee Mo.

Dear Kay: Go the the Post Office nearest your home and ask for the form that stops unwanted mail. Fill it out and return it. This form will be sent to the source of the unwanted mail requesting that your name be removed from their mailing list. (P.S. Sounds like some computers in Pennsylvania and Iowa went bananas!)

Discover how to be date bait without falling hook, line and sinker. Ann Landers's booklet, "Dating Do's and Don'ts," will help you be more poised and sure of yourself on dates. Send 35 cents in coin along with a long, stamped, self- addressed envelope and your request to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Cape Central defeats SHS tennis team in close match

Sikeston High School's girls tennis team lost a close 6-4 match to Cape Girardeau Central Wednesday afternoon in Cape Girardeau.

The teams were tied after the singles matches, but Sikeston lost the decision when both of its double teams fell.

The SHS girls played without their No. 2 player, Mary Lowney. Gail Strickland, had to be substituted in her place at the last minue, according to Coach Berta Scheurenberg, who said the freshman replacement did an outstanding job against her senior opponent.

The most exciting match occurred when Marilyn Neel, the No. 3 SHS player, and her opponent played to a 9-9 tie. In the tie breaker, the Cape player won 5-3 to take the match, 10-9.

"Cindy Davis, our No. 6 girl, played an outstanding match in beating her opponent, 10-8," the Sikeston coach said, adding that Cindy is a "real hustler and plays hard."

The coach also complimented Mary Sikes, who has now won both of her matches this season.

Lynn Bizzell had another strong game, Mrs. Schuerenberg said.

"The girls are still really enthusiastic, and I think we're improving with every match," the coach reported.

Individual scores, with Sikeston girls listed first, were as follows:

Jeannie Vines lost to A. Vangilder, 8-6; Gail Strickland lost to S. Jones, 8-5; Marilynn Neel lost to T. Price, 10-9 in a tie breaker; Lynn Bizzell defeated D. Lovingood, 8-3; Linda Green was defeated by A. McKee, 8-2; Cindy Davis beat T. Ramsey, 10-8; Mary Sikes beat K. Cardonmier, 8-4; and Susan Drumm beat D. Rustmeyer, 8-3.

In doubles play, Jeannie Vines and Melissa Lee of Sikeston lost to A. Vangilder and A. McKee, 8-2, and Melissa Eaves and Nancy Bohannon lost to T. Price and D. Lovingood, 8-2.

The Sikeston team will take on the Cape Central girls again at 4 p.m. Monday on the Sikeston courts.

Every mother should make sure her children are eating an adequate breakfast. In cool weather start them off with a bowl of hot oatmeal, topped with ready-to- use canned fruit cocktail. Both oatmeal and canned fruit cocktail are favorites with the young crowd and are quick and easy to prepare.

Drain canned cling peach slices and place cut side up in shallow baking dish. Broil about three inches from heat about 10 minutes. Meanwhile blend one-fourth cup parmesan cheese, half cup mayonnaise and one tablespoon chopped canned green chili or half teaspoon chili powder. Serve over peaches.

Straining for the ball

Jeannie Vines, a member of the Sikeston High School girls tennis team, watches the ball carefully as she prepares to lob it back to her opponent during competition Tuesday in Sikeston. The team played again Wednesday at Cape Girardeau and lost a 6-4 match to Cape Central High School.

Volleyball matches split

SHS B- team wins

The SHS B-team took two straight games by scores of 15-9 and 15-4 to win its match. The A-team won the first game, 15-11, but fell to the Notre Dame team in the next two games, 15-13 and 15-5.

In the A-team match, Notre Dame came back from the first game to eke out the 15-13 second game decision. A service fault was called on Sandy Spurlin of Sikeston during that game to break up her five- point streak when the score was 14-13, and the Notre Dame went on to take the game- deciding last point.

The third game seemed to be only a serving spree as one of the Notre Dame team members served 11 straight points en route to the 15-5 margin.

Susan MacLaughlin can be given credit for leading the Sikeston scoring attack, as she contributed a total of nine points in the first game of the match. Her overhead service pattern proved very effective, as most of her serves slammed past her opponents.

In the B-game, Kelly Hill contributed 12 points in the two games to lead the Bulldog scoring. Emma Wells and Jane Buchanan contributed several more points with consistent serving.

The first home outing of the season for the Sikeston teams is scheduled at 6:30 p.m. Monday in the field house against Poplar Bluff.

On Tuesday, the team will travel to Bloomfield for a 6:30 p.m. outing.

Best Flower Buys In September

The full complement of autumn hues -- golds, reds, purples, copper and burnished greens -- are adding a regal touch to florists' shops this month, reports the Society of American Florists. Field-grown flowers in plentiful supply in September include straw flowers, Marguerite daisies, asters, gypsophila, and statice. Potted plants in abundance include mums, gloxinia, African violets and a wide selection of green plants. Popular flowers in excellent supply include roses, gladioli, mums and pompons.

Portageville club plans charter trip

PORTAGEVILLE— The Bess Truman Club met Sept. 26 at Hickory Village in Portageville to finalize plans for the charter trip to Independence and Kansas City.

Club members and others joining the tour will leave Friday morning, and return Sunday evening. They plan to visit the Truman Library and hope to meet with Mrs. Harry Truman.

Anyone wanting to make the trip may contact Mrs. Clyde Essary, president.

Several club members and local citizens were in Poplar Bluff Friday night to meet Alabama Gov. George Wallace at the Truman Day Rally.

The next regular club meeting will be at 12:30 p.m. Oct. 24 at Billy's Lounge for lunch.

Sikeston coed chosen for elite KU band flag corps

LAWRENCE, Kan. — Theresa Schuchart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Schuchart of Sikeston, Mo., Route Four, is among the 250 University of Kansas students selected for the 1974 KU marching band. Dr. Robert E. Foster, band director, terms the list of musicians as representing "The largest and most select group in the history of the KU band.

Miss Schuchart is a freshman majoring in music therapy and will perform in the flag corps of the band. Only 16 members perform in the flag corps.

The marching band, which plays martial and popular band music, performs at all home football games and presents special halftime shows. The first performance of the band was Saturday at the football game between KU and Florida State University.

Foster, who is beginning his fourth year as University Band director, said the group also plans to travel to Manhattan for the K.U.-K.S.U. football classic on Oct. 12, and has tentatively scheduled a trip to Stillwater, Okla., Nov. 2, for the K.U. - Oklahoma State contest.

He explained that each time the group performed, only 220 members will be on the field, (192 musicians, 16 flag corps members, and 2 drum majors) but that all 250 will practice with the band, go on the trips, march into the stadium and play in the stands. Since conflicts prevent all members from attending any event, theoretically each of the musicians will be able to perform in the marching group at least once during the season.

Terry Metcalf (21) looks for room to run on his way to a 94-yard touchdown gallop against the Cleveland Browns Sunday afternoon. The Big Red are off to their best season yet, chalking up wins in their opening three games. Coach Don Coryell will match his defensive strong Cardinals against the 49ers in San Francisco Sunday afternoon.

Big Red face 49ers Sunday

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. – The St. Louis Cardinals (3-0), who have not started a season with four straight victories since 1966, will be shooting at that mark Sunday when they battle the San Francisco 49ers (2-1) in Candlestick Park. Kickoff is set for 3 p.m.

St. Louis captured its third straight game last Sunday with a 29-7 victory over the Cleveland Browns before 43,472 fans in Busch Memorial Stadium. It is the fastest start for the Big Red since 1966 when the team won its first five games and tied Dallas in its sixth.

The 49ers, after opening the season with road victories at New Orleans (17-13) and Atlanta (16-10), lost in their home- opener Sunday to the rugged Cincinnati Bengals, 21-3.

Against the Browns, the Big Red defense sparkled for the third successive week and after a sluggish first half, the Cardinal offense perked up in the third quarter for 22 points to put the game away. Once again, it was the big play that set up the victory.

Despite being outgained in the first half, the Big Red nonetheless led, 7-0, at halftime on corner back Norm Thompson's 56- yard interception return touchdown. The Cardinals then doubled their output when Terry Metcalf took the opening kickoff of the second half and scooted 94 yards for a TD.

After the Browns scored to close the margin to 14-7, the Big Red came right back and took a 20-7 lead on a 68-yard pass from quarterback Jim Hart to wide receiver Mel Gray. Later in the period, Jim Bakken added a 44- yard field goal and running back Donny Anderson scored from one yard out.

The Big Red defense -- currently tops in the National Football League in fewest points allowed with 20-- held the Browns' offense to only 93 rushing yards, well below the average of more than 200 Cleveland took into the game. Greg Pruitt was held to only 21 yards on eight carries.

"We were very surprised and very pleased to score this many points, coach Don Coryell said, "because we think so much of Cleveland. We really needed the interception return (by Thompson) because it seemed like nothing we did on offense could go right in the first half. And Metcalf's kickoff return was a tremendous run."

The Cardinals will be making heir first journey to San Francisco since 1968 and this will be their first game ever in Candlestick Park. The series between the teams is tied at three victories apiece

Following the game, the Big Red will play the Dallas Cowboys on Sunday, October 13. The game is scheduled for St. Louis but will be moved to Dallas if the baseball Cardinals win the National League Eastern Division title. In that case, the return meeting between the teams -- set November 3 in Dallas -- would be moved to St. Louis.

Sports Briefs

By The Associated Press

BUZZARDS BAY, Mass. (AP) — Jim Ard, dropped by the Philadelphia 76ers, will start at center when the Boston Celtics meet the Buffalo Braves in a National Basketball Association exhibition game.

The 6-foot-9 Ard, who will be available when he clears waivers today, will fill-in for Dave Cowens, who will be sidelined for at least another week with a leg injury, the team announced.

Murray blasted; Clayton only star

MURRAY, Ky. — "We don't have any excuses," Murray State Coach Bill Furgerson said of his team's 26-0 loss at Tennessee Tech last Saturday. "They were mentally ready for us, they defensed us well, they were very aggressive, and they took full advantage of our errors."

The loss was the first for the Racers this season and brought their record to 3-1 overall and 1-1 in the Ohio Valley Conference. They have an open date this weekend and will then play three straight games at home against UT-Martin, Middle Tennessee, and East Tennessee.

"We knew Tech would be a strong team, particularly on defense," Furgerson said. "They had nine of their defensive starters back from last year and they used their open date of last week to get ready for us. We also panicked a bit at their stiff rush and didn't take advantage of it as we are capable of doing.

"I think the fact that we had played in three straight, emotion - packed games also make it hard for us to be emotionally ready. In the OVC, where talent is so equal and depth so lacking, emotion is terribly important to winning.

"The loss really hurts, but the important thing now is to remember that we have seven more games to play and to set about correcting the mistakes we made last Saturday so we will be a better team the rest of the season."

The Racers could generate but little offense against Tech, and Don Clayton, with 92 yards rushing, accounted for most of it. He now has 395 yards for the season, an average of 98.8 a game and 3.9 a carry. Doug Sanders and B. F. Behrendt, first and second in receiving in the OVC last week, caught only one pass each in the game and have 14 and 13 receptions, respectively. Steve Martin averaged 41.7 on seven punts in the game and is averaging 41.9 for the season.

Leading the defensive unit, which Furgerson credited with a good game, were linebacker Don Hettich with 10 tackles and 8 assists, linebacker Alfred Caldwell with 7 and 8, and tackle Jay Waddle with 7 and 7.

Cards favored

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Aw, c'mon now! This can't be correct. It must be a misprint in the National Football League standings!

St. Louis and New England leading their respective divisions, both with 3-0 records?

And what's more, the Cardinals are very likely to still be first in the National Conference East and the Patriots No. 1 in the American Conference East after the fourth weekend of NFL action.

Of course the fact that the Cards and Pats are leading hasn't helped the old Pro Pigskin Picker's average. Last week, however, the picks climbed to 9-4 — most respectable showing so far this season. Over-all, it's now 23-15-1 and the average is .605.

And on to this weekend:

St. Louis (3-0) at San Francisco (2-1): The oddmakers like St. Louis by a field goal, but Coach Don Coryell should do better, so ... CARDINALS 24, 49ERS 17.

Baltimore (0-3) at New England (3-0): This was one of the few games the Patriots were expected to win in the preseason guessing ... PATRIOTS 31, COLTS 14.

Minnesota (3-0) at Dallas (12): The Vikings are favored by a mere two points in this replay of the 1973 NFC Championship game ... VIKINGS 17, COWBOYS 14.

Washington (2-1) at Cincinnati (2-1): The Bengals are favored by 4 1/2 but the Redskins are No. 1 in the NFC in total defense and No. 2 in total offense. Let's call for a mild upset ... REDSKINS 19, BENGALS 17.

Buffalo (2-1) at Green Bay (2-1): The oddsmakers like Buffalo, but only by four points. Look for O.J. Simpson to handle the situation with ease. BILLS 24, PACKERS 17.

Denver (0-2-1) at Kansas City (2-1): The odds favor Denver by 1 1/2 points, and the Chiefs are getting old. BRONCOS 17, CHIEFS 12.

Oakland (2-1) at Cleveland (1-2): Oakland hasn't given up a point in the first quarter for nine games ... RAIDERS 27, BROWNS 13.

Detroit (0-3) at Los Angeles (2-1): This game features the oddsmakers' biggest spread of the weekend, 15 points. But the 15 points could be worthwhile ... RAMS 27, LIONS 14.

Pittsburgh (1-1-1) at Houston (1-2): Another big-spread game — 14 points. But against Houston, the Steelers should roll to the tune of ... STEELERS 30, OILERS 10.

Philadelphia (2-1) at San Diego (1-2): The odds say Philadelphia will win by five points. It should be more. EAGLES 28, CHARGERS 7.

New Orleans (1-2) at Chicago (1-2): The Bears have lost some close ones and should win this one, close. BEARS 21, SAINTS 17.

Atlanta (0-3) vs. New York Giants (1-2) at New Haven: The Giants are favored by four points and that's really not too surprising when you consider how the Falcons have played lately ... GIANTS 21, FALCONS 12.

Cubs...no help

"I really think the Lord had something to do with this ballgame," said Pittsburgh catcher Manny Sanguillen. "I just thank God we were able to do it."

The Lord may have helped but Chicago catcher Steve Swisher didn't hurt either as the Pirates clinched the National League East Division championship Wednesday night with a wild 5-4, 10-inning victory over the Cubs.

Chicago had the game won with two out and a man on third in the bottom of the ninth. Cubs' right-hander Rick Reuschel struck out pinch hitter Bob Robertson for what would have been the final out but Swisher let the pitch get away from him for a passed ball and Sanguillen raced home from third to send the game into overtime.

One inning later Sanguillen drove in the winning run with a bases-loaded infield single and the Bucs were on their way to the National League playoffs. They wind up 1 1/2 games ahead of the runnerup St. Louis Cardinals who were rained out at Montreal. That game will not be made up.

The Pirates start the best-offive NL playoffs Saturday afternoon against Los Angeles in Pittsburgh.

Elsewhere, Los Angeles edged Houston 5-4 in 10 innings; Atlanta bombed Cincinnati 13-0; Philadelphia shaded New York 3-2 in 10 innings and San Diego dumped San Francisco 9-5.

Chicago unloaded on Pirate starter Jim Rooker for four runs in the firt and the Bucs spent the rest of the night playing catch-up.

Robertson, who celebrated his 28th birthday Wednesday by turning in the game's big play — the clutch ninth-inning strikeout — drenched Manager Danny Murtaugh, a non-drinker, with a gallon of milk.

Braves 13, Reds 0

Hank Aaron closed out his eventful season with his 20th homer, No. 733 lifetime, but refused to say it was his last game. He said earlier in the season this would be his last campaign, but has been having second thoughts lately.

Dodgers 5, Astros 4, 10 innings

John Hale singled and Lee Lacy doubled him home in the 10th to give reliever Charlie Hough, 9-4, the win.

Phillies 3, Mets 2, 10 innings

Padres 9, Giants 5

San Diego scored four times in the ninth inning to win it.

Wednesday's AL results: Baltimore 5, Detroit 4; New York 2, Milwaukee 1; Cleveland 8, Boston 6; Texas 2, Minnesota 1; Chicago 5, Kansas City 4, 12 innings; and California 3, Oakland 2.

Kaline era ends

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

They said goodbye to Al Kaline, finishing 22 illustrious seasons. And they booed ferociously when the goodbye came prematurely.

They said goodbye to Ken Aspromonte, about to be replaced by Frank Robinson, major league baseball's first black manager.

And they said goodbye to the season.

There were 24,812 fans on hand. Not a bad crowd for a baseball game. The only problem was, it was the crowd that showed up for the entire American League Wednesday.

But then, that's what happens when everything's tied up in a couple of neat little bundles, when nothing counts — except for the record books, the drives for the post-season awards, the pushes for next year's salary boost ... and for those hardcore fans.

Just for the record, Eastern champion Baltimore edged lastplace Detroit 5-4, Western winner Oakland lost 3-2 to lastplace California, Texas nipped Minnesota 2-1, Cleveland turned back Boston 8-6, New York downed Milwaukee 2-1 and Chicago beat Kansas City 5-4 in 12 innings.

Orioles 5, Tigers 4

Baltimore, relaxing after Tuesday's pennant clinching, used plenty of reserves and still beat the Tigers.

Enos Cabell, whose two-run, tie-breaking double in the seventh inning enabled the Orioles to conclude the regular-season with their ninth consecutive triumph.

Kaline was happy to see his career concluded. "I'm glad it's over. I really am. I don't think I'll miss it."

He got ovations in the first and third innings when he batted. In the fifth, the crowd started booing loudly. They had spotted Ben Oglivie in the ondeck circle instead of Kaline.

It turned out that Kaline's shoulder was bothering him. "I didn't know if I should play or not ... Everybody wanted to have me hit my 400th home run, but no way could I swing hard enough to hit a home run. I could have played but I could only punch the ball."

Angels 3, A's 2

California's Denny Doyle singled with the bases loaded in the bottom of the ninth inning, capping a two-run burst that finished Oakland's season on a low note.

Rangers 2, Twins 1

"I think either Jim Hunter, Mike Cuellar or I will win the Cy Young Award," Ferguson Jenkins said after finishing the season with a 25-12 record by winning 18 of his last 24 decisions. "I'd like to win it, sure, but those other guys certainly deserve it too.

Indians 8, Red Sox 6

Cleveland will break a racial barrier once again with Robinson's appointment. It was the Indians who, in 1947, had the American League's first black player, Larry Doby.

Robinson said goodbye to his 1974 playing days with a bang, driving in two runs, one of them with his 22nd homer of the year and 574th of his career.

But it was Rusty Torres' homer, opening a two-run ninth, that enabled Gaylord Perry to finish at 21-13.

Yankees 2, Brewers 1

White Sox 5, Royals 4

Chicago scored a run in the 12th inning without a hit, Kansas City reliever Bruce Dal Canton wild-pitching in the winning run.

In the National League it was Pittsburgh 5, Chicago 4 in 10 innings; Los Angeles 5, Houston 4 in 10; Philadelphia 3, New York 2 in 10; San Diego 9, San Francisco 5, and Atlanta 13, Cincinnati 0. St. Louis' game at Montreal was canceled.

Vaught slated for wildlife banquet

Richard W. Vaught, superintendent of the Migratory Wildlife Division for the Missouri Conservation Commission will be the keynote speaker for the Ducks Unlimited banquet at the Ramada Inn, Oct. 21 at 6 p.m.

Jim Tom Blair, member of the Missouri Conservation Commission, will preside over the affair.

Tickets for the event are available at Homestead and Marks Food Mart and can be purchased from members of the board of Swampeast chapter of Ducks Unlimited. The event will be limited to 400 people.

A number of door prizes will be available, including a Remington 870 commemorative shotgun and a 14- foot john boat, along with several hundred dollars worth of other gifts.

The highlight of last year's event, an auction that raised over $3,000 for the group, will also be held. Among the items to be auctioned will be a Harley Davidson trail bike and framed wildlife pictures.

Senate votes to cut off aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 48-34 roll call by which the Senate Wednesday adopted a foreign aid bill amendment to cut off military aid to any country using U.S. supplied arms for aggression included:

Republicans against: Pearson, Kan.

Center official addresses FFA

EAST PRAIRIE — "Agriculture — Today and Tomorrow" was the topic of an address by Chuck Cromwell, superintendent of the University of Missouri Delta Research Center at Portageville, at the annual Future Farmers of America parent- member banquet Tuesday night in A. J. Martin Elementary School.

Slides depicting agriculture in the year 2000 and the concept of farming under glass were used by Cromwell to illustrate his remarks. He noted that the basic challenge faced by the agriculture industry — the world's largest and most important industry — is the problem of hunger throughout the world.

The East Prairie FFA chapter has an active membership of over 100 members and is one of 232 chapters in the state.

Health care charitable, attorneys tell court

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Promotion and the care of health itself is a chart-table purpose, lending private hospitals tax-exempt status, attorneys for three Kansas City hospitals have told the Missouri Supreme Court.

In attempting to convince the court to uphold the current taxexempt status of the private facilities, attorneys outlined Wednesday the unreimbursed patient treatment given by the three hospitals from 1967 through 1971, which totaled more than $10 million.

But attorney Stanley Christopher, representing Jackson County, which ordered St. Luke's, Baptist and Research hospitals to begin paying property taxes, argued that the facilities earn a profit and give preference to persons who are able to pay.

He told the court that net profits for the three institutions in 1971 alone amounted to nearly $4.2 million.

Hospital attorneys countered by saying that the facilities are open to anyone and that the hospitals incur great expense in treating patients under Medicaid and indigent patients transferred from Jackson County Public Hospital.

Profits from the facilities, they claimed, go into debt retirement, modernization of facilities and training of doctors and nurses.

Following the county's attempt to collect $2.7 million in tax from the three hospitals, an effort supported in Jackson County Circuit Court, the state Tax Commission appealed the matter to the Supreme Court, seeking retention of the tax-exempt status. The commission was joined by the Missouri Hospital Association.

Trophies received for displays

7,569 students enrolled at SeMo State

CAPE GIRARDEAU--- At the end of the first four weeks of the semester, 7,569 students were enrolled at Southeast Missouri State University, registrar Alton Bray reported to the university's board of regents Friday.

If the university had counted 206 students who enrolled in school but withdrew prior to the end of the first four weeks of classes, the fall enrollment would have been 7,775, Bray said.

This figure-- 7,775-- would compare with the enrollment figure of 7,669 reported a year ago at this time when 122 students who withdrew were included in the total reported to the state.

The registrar told the regents that the university's practice of reporting students who withdrew during the first four weeks was halted following a directive from the office of the Commission on Higher Education received after last fall's enrollment totals were announced. Last year's spring semester did not include such students.

Bray noted, that until the arrival of the directive, state guidelines on enrollment reporting were unclear on whether withdrawn students should be included in official totals. University officials still believe they should be, he said, on the grounds that the school must be prepared to accommodate all students who show up for a given semester.

In any event, Bray told the board, if you subtract from the enrollment reported in the fall of 1973 the students who withdrew from the university, you still come up with an increase for the fall of 1974.

The basic reason for the stability of the enrollment at the university is a freshman class nearly 700 students larger than last year. This year's freshmen number 2,835, compared to 2,182 in the fall of 1973.

All of the other classes showed slight declines in numbers, the result of smaller freshman classes in the early part of this decade, following 10 years of steadily increasing enrollments.

The breakdown of students which Bray presented to the board showed 7,183 students on campus, compared to 6,993 a year ago. There are 386 students enrolled in classes sponsored by the university at off- campus locations, compared to 676 a year ago.

Undergraduate students at the university number 6,682. A total of 860 persons are working on master's degrees, and 27 are studying for specialist in education degrees.

Letters to the Editor

October 1, 1974

Dear Managing Editor:

The following letter was sent today by ITT to Jack Anderson concerning serious errors of fact made in his column for distribution October 2, 1974.

Sincerely,
R. H. Sykes
Director of Public Information
International Telephone and Telegraph
New York, N.Y.

October 1, 1974

Mr. Jack Anderson, Columnist
1401 16th Street, N. W.
Washington, D. C. 20036

Dear Mr. Anderson:

Your column distributed for publication October 2, 1974, contains serious factual errors and mis- statements concerning International Telephone & Telegraph Corporation, its employmen of John Ragan, and alleged approaches to the Chilean military in 1970.

First, the publication of John Ragan's activities in Chile is an old story and omits a key fact. ITT informed the Associated Press on September 18, 1973, in response to a request from the AP Washington Bureau, that ITT had sent Mr. Ragan to Chile at Dr. Allende's request, NOT merely the "invitation of the army and police," as your column states.

ITT told the AP then that during Dr. Allende's first few months in office, he became convinced his communications were being compromised. He asked the Chilean Telephone Company if it could provide him with the technical assistance to determine the extent of the bugging and to clean it up.

Since the Chilean Telephone Company didn't have this capability, but wanted to respond, it forwarded the request to ITT World Headquarters. Our security director, who handles such matters, reviewed several outside consultants and selected Mr. Ragan. Your own column testifies to his reputation in that field.

ITT did not learn that Ragan was working for the Republicans in 1970 until three years later.

The second and most serious error in the column is the distorted reprisal of your first ITT- Chile column in 1972. You say:

"But as we reported on March 21, 1972, ITT had made approaches 'to select members of the Armed Forces in an attempt to have them lead some sort of uprising' in late 1970, only a few months before ITT and the Chilean army helped arrange Ragan's visit."

This is not true, as a reading of the Church Committee transcript would have shown. ITT made no approaches of any kind whatsoever to the Chilean military at any time. Your apparent evidence for that statement is a memo from ITT Vice President William R. Merriam to ITT Director John A. McCone. In it, Merriam discusses what he learned of the activities of the Central Intelligence Agency, which apparently included approaches by that agency, to the military.

The fact that ITT would comply with a request from Dr. Allende to its very vulnerable Chilean subsidiary should not be "puzzling" at all.

The decision to send Mr. Ragan to Chile to assist Dr. Allende was consistent with the Chilean Telephone Company's policy (and ITT's policy) of cooperation with the Allende regime, until its properties were expropriated without compensation.

Nothing else can be inferred from it, and the attempt of your October 2 column to do more is completely in error and without justification in fact or in spirit.

I think a correction based on the record of the Church hearings is in order.

Sincerely,
Robert H. Sykes
Director of Public Information.

Mr. Pat Curry
Sikeston Senior High School
Sikeston, Missouri 63801

Dear Mr. Curry:

I had occasion to observe the Cotton Carnival Parade across the street from where the Sikeston Senior High School Band was waiting to take its place in the parade.

As bands from the other schools would come by that location your students applauded them.

This was quite a thrill for me; particularly, there was an extraordinary applause for the Charleston High School Band when it came by.

I wanted to compliment the students involved for the very good character they showed in extending such a warm and friendly reception ot the students from other towns. The conduct and behavior of your students indicates that they are a really fine bunch of people and I know you must appreciate working with them.

Sincerely yours.
THOMAS R. GILMORE

'Judges should be retained'

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — All of Missouri's judges under the nonpartisan court plan should be retained in office in November, according to a poll taken of Missouri lawyers.

The poll, conducted by the Missouri Bar Association, included only judges who will not be on the political ballots. Under the nonpartisan court plan, the judges are appointed and voters merely vote for or against retention in office.

There are no Supreme Court judges up for a retention vote this year. The Supreme Court and appellate judges serve terms of 12 years; the circuit judges, six years; and the probate judges and magistrates, four years.

Up for retention will be judges on the courts of appeals, and the circuit and probate judges in Jackson County, St. Louis County, St. Louis city and Clay County.

The Platte County probate judge also will be up for retention.

6 treated

Six accident patients were treated and released Thursday in the emergency room at Missouri Delta Community Hospital.

Treated were: Delmer Gilliam, 24, Charleston, injured left leg, knee and ankle in car accident; Dawn Gilliam, 19, Charleston, injured neck in car accident; Artis Ivory Jr., 19, Chanute Air Force Base, Ill., minor injury in car accident.

High court says authority unconstitutionally delegated

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Failure to specifically designate each statute affected by the recent bill lowering the majority in Missouri to 18 unconstitutionally delegates legislative authority, the Missouri Supreme Court has told.

Attorneys for St. Louis County Prosecutor Gene McNary told the high court Wednesday that the majority rights bill, which says that whenever the age 21 appears in the law it should be changed to 18 except in cases involving alcoholic beverages, gives the revisor of statutes unconstitutional discretion because age limitations are phrased differently in the various laws.

The limitation phraising, attorneys Anne Carpini and Steven Goldman pointed out, range from "age of 21," "before the 21st birthday" and simply "minor," and attorneys for both sides acknowledged that there has never been a definition of age of majority in Missouri until the majority rights bill of 1974.

McNary obtained a temporary restraining order from the high court in August against County Circuit Court Judge Harry J. Stussie and the court clerk, preventing them from adding 18, 19 and 20-year-olds to prospective jury lists until the court ruled on the constitutionality of the majority rights measure.

While members of the seven-judge court continually asked questions of the attorneys on both sides, George R. Gerhard and James H. White, representing Stussie, said they found 120 laws through a computer check that would be affected by the majority rights measure.

The justices, led by Chief Judge Robert Donnelly, repreatedly asked whether juvenile courts, previusly with jurisdiction to age 21, would lose jurisdiction over delinquents 18 years old and whether persons between 18 and 20 would still be guaranteed free state education as they have been in the past.

On the question of whether child support would end at 18 if all laws were changed under the bill, Gerhard said he believed that was the legislative intent of the act.

Robert M. Sommers, representing the attorney general's office, said he could not speak for Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth on the effect of the majority rights bill on education, juveniles and child support.

Both Gerhard and White, however, pointed out to the court a Missouri law which changed the name of circuit and county attorneys to "prosecuting attorneys" without explicitly citing every statute involved, but the judges noted that law did not grant or deny any rights.

During the last session of the legislature, a 50-page majority rights bill was introduced in the House, citing each statute involved and amending it by changing the age. That measure, however, was dropped in favor of a shorter version.

Students build home

New Madrid County R-1 Vocational- Technical School building trades students are working at the construction site of a new brick and frame house that will be occupied by a deputy sheriff on the grounds adjoining the New Madrid County jail. The county is furnishing the building materials in a cooperative project for the students to gain on- the- job skills training.

NEW MADRID—Construction has started on a new, modern, brick and frame house for a deputy sheriff's residence on the grounds adjoining the New Madrid County jail in a cooperative project between the county and New Madrid County R- 1 Vocational- Technical School students.

The county is furnishing the building materials, at an estimated cost of $13,000, and first and second year building trades students are doing the work under the direction of instructor B. J. Rooker.

The structure measures 26 1/2 feet by 66 feet, which includes an extra large attached carport that will also house the county ambulance.

The three- bedroom house will contain two baths and will be centrally heated and air conditioned. Electrical wiring will be installed by students in the school's electricity classes.

J. D. Patton Plumbing of Portageville will install the plumbing and heating systems.

Rooker said he has 18 students who work at the site for two hours in the morning and 13 are receiving construction training in the two- hour afternoon session.

In the two- week period since construction began, the block foundation has been completed and the sub-flooring laid. Students are now studying blueprint measurements and marking partitions and window and door openings preparatory to raising the frame walls.

If outside construction can continue at a steady pace, which depends on weather conditions, Rooker said the students will work inside during the winter months toward completion of the house in the spring.

Scabies on the increase

Scabies, a parasitic skin infestation considered extinct in the U. S. until 1971, is on the increase. And, according to Drs. Steven J. Hodge and Lafayette G. Owen, reporting in the Journal of the Kentucky Medical Association, unless physicians become familiar with the "itch mites," the condition may be misdiagnosed and mistreated.

Scabies should be suspected in any patient with an intense, unexplained itching, which is worse at night, the dermatologists advise. Diagnosis can usually be established by microscopy, and "treatment regimens are effective." One that they recommend is gamma benezene hexachloride (Kwell) applied after a bath and removed 48 hours later by a bath.

Scabies are transmitted from person to person. "The groups that are most affected are those regarded by sociologists as 'the most sexually promiscuous,' " the authors state.

Lions to renew sponsorship

The Sikeston Lions Club Wednesday voted to renew its sponsorship of Boy Scout Troop 43.

In his annual report to the club, Scoutmaster Roy Nall said he is giving up the scoutmaster position next year. Joe Booth will take over the leadership position, he said.

Nall has been scouting for 32 years and a scoutmaster for 20.

Former Lions District Gov. Tom Roberts, a member of the Sikeston club, received the 100 per cent district governor award. The award was sent from Lions International and presented by club president Bill Neel. The award was given for Roberts' service as district governor.

Letters to the Editor

New Madrid, Mo.
Oct. 1, 1974
The Sikeston Standard
Sikeston, Mo. 64801
Editor:

It is too bad that Mr. Eagleton refuses to have a debate with Mr. Curtis. Some of the issues that all Americans are interested in, and a candidate's position on them, are; inflation, taxes, growing bureacracy, crime, national defense, gun control, the welfare system.

The outcome of all these questions depends on every American who still has the power, through the ballot box, to determine the future of this country.

Widespread airing of these issues would be a good way to start - and a small price to pay for maintaining this nation's greatness. If any voter is trying to find out Mr. Eagleton's position on REAL issues, it would behoove him or her to look else-where than the news media, who has him speaking out of both sides of his mouth. I'm in favor of a debate.

Dear Editor;
"Pardon Me Please"

Pardon me for violateing my oath of office and for crime on its way up passing morality on its way down — for an era when greed replaces honesty for a trend under my leadership when might replaces right, for being the protector of the constitution while at the same time I denied many people thier constitutional rights, for silenceing the inquisitive minds — pardon me for influenceing the great religeous leaders of our time into backing my lawless regime, for haveing no mercy on free thinking people who dissagreed with my policies, for my ballance of payments of deficits which were the greatest in history, for my personal devaluation of the dollar, which is the first time any President ever cheapened America's money for my habit of favoring giant companies which helped put more people on welfare than all presidents before me, have no mercy on those who fled our country to avoid Vietnam but pardon me for keeping my son in laws safe at home while I sent over 20,000 Americans to thier deaths. Pardon me while I was America's leader for our nation becomeing discontent and for our young people loseing confidence in Nixon and Agnu and drifting from our churches to the dope dens, from the sunday school classes to the abortion mills. Pardon me because I created unprecedented inflation and deficit spending, but most of all give me Richard Milhous Nixon a full, free and absolute pardon for income tax fraud, for crimes I committed , for crimes I might have committed and for crimes I might been involved in.

Transportation council adopts 6-point policy

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The new state Transportation Policy Council has delayed any decision on whether to participate in a plan to obtain federal grants because of insufficient information on the program.

But the council, at its third meeting Wednesday since being created through state reorganization, adopted a six-point policy statement.

Although the council said it would secure the additional information on the federal integrated grant administration program from federal officials at its next session, Chairman Rober L. James said some members expressed concern about the plan.

"Members of the council are concerned about adding another insulating body to applying for federal grants instead of streamlining the process," he said of the plan, which enables public agencies to apply for a number of federal assistance grants through a single application.

The policy statement calls for consulation on transportation facilities and policy, exchange of information, comment and review of proposed plans for existing and suggested facilities, evaluation of present and future transportation needs, investigation of technical improvements and development of coordinated policy plans for all types of transportation.

Pens passed to witnesses

After signing a proclamation declaring October as 4-H Month in Missouri, Gov. Christopher S. Bond, seated, passes out the pens used to sign it to witnesses to the ceremony. From left are State Rep. Ed Bohl of Harrisonville; Miss Mary Nell Greenwood, director of programs for the University of Missouri Extension Division; Frank Graham, director of extension youth programs at University of Missouri- Columbia; Mrs. Donna Ham of Marble Hill, Mo. extension youth specialist for the Southeast Missouri area; Dale Ludwig of Oak Ridge, president of the State 4-H Council; Ray Call of Cape Girardeau, chairman of the Missouri 4-H Foundation's board of directors; Mrs. Call; Mrs. Arlene Hitchings of Belleview, 4-H volunteer leader; and Miss Dorothy Haynes of Portageville, Bootheel area representative on the State 4-H Council.

October is 4-H month

COLUMBIA — The unveiling of a plaque in Ironton Friday to commemorate the 60th anniversary of 4-H club work in Missouri, will kick off a heavy October schedule of 4-H events in the state.

In honor of this anniversary, the 25th anniversaries of both the International Farm Youth Exchange (IFYE) program in Missouri and the Missouri 4-H Foundation, and other special events, Gov. Christopher S. Bond has proclaimed October as 4-H Month in Missouri.

In the Ironton ceremony, which will begin at the Iron County Courthouse at 1:30 p.m., a plaque will be unveiled to commemorate the 60th anniversary of the founding of the first 4-H clubs in the state there in 1914.

Oct. 6 is National 4-H Sunday, which will initiate National 4-H Week, Oct. 6-12, according to Frank Graham, director of extension youth programs at University of Missouri- Columbia.

Special church services in Missouri and other states will recognize National 4-H Sunday, he said, and National 4-H Week will feature 4-H member project exhibits, radio and television spots, special 4-H sections or editions of newspapers and countywide 4-H leader and member recognition events.

"Many 4-H clubs in Missouri will reorganize and take in new members during National 4-H Week," Graham said, "And annual area 4-H leader conferences will get underway." More than 52,000 Missouri youth are enrolled in 4-H, Graham said, under the leadership of nearly 15,000 adult volunteer leaders.

A major regional 4-H event, the annual interstate show in St. Joseph, will draw several hunderd 4-H members and leaders to East Hills Shopping Center on Oct. 9-12, where they will exhibit 4-H projects, give demonstrations, and participate in a talent show and dress revue.

As many as 1,000 Missouri 4-H'ers from the Northwest part of the state are expected to participate, according to Jack West, MU extension youth specialist for the A-B-C-D area. The interstate show will also feature 4-H work from northeast Kansas, southeast Nebraska and southwest Iowa, he said.

Another four- state regional event -- the American Royal 4-H Conference -- will involve 4-H members from Missouri, Oklahoma, Kansas and Iowa in Kansas City Oct. 19-21. About 165 delegates will be from Missouri.

An additional 200 Missouri 4-H members are expected to show entries at the American Royal Livestock and Horse Shoe in mid- October. In a related event -- the American Royal 4-H Livestock Judging Contest -- two separate four-person teams from Missouri will compete in meats and livestock judging Oct. 16 and 18, respectively.

Earlier in the month Missouri's 4-H dairy judging team will attend the National 4-H Dairy Conference in Madison, Wis., and then go on to Columbus, Ohio, to compete in the National 4-H Dairy Cattle Judging Contest. Four other Missouri 4-H'ers have also been chosen as delegates to the national conference in Wisconsin.

Silver anniversaries will be celebrated by the Missouri 4-H Foundation at a special luncheon at UMC Oct. 25 and by the Missouri alumni chapter of IFYE at a Nov. 30 banquet at UMC.

The foundation was established Oct. 10, 1949, as a nonprofit educational corporation through which private citizens, organizations and businesses could support the Missouri 4-H program, Graham said.

In honor of the first Missouri IFYE in 1949, the state alumni association, headed by Sam Swan, extension youth specialist in the Show-Me area, will invite all Missouri families who have hosted inbound IFYE delegates in the past 25 years to the Nov. 30 banquet.

"We are inviting more than 500 persons," Swan said. He said that since 1949 the Missouri IFYE program has sent 89 former 4-H members abroad to 38 countries and has had 162 exchangees from 48 nations visit here.

Swan, who is also vice president of the national IFYE alumni association, said that Missouri will host the national meeting of the group in 1976.

The first sign of frost in the air comes when your hostess notices you've burnt a cigarette hole in her best tablecloth.

Our executives just held a bored meeting this morning.

Highway commission to meet

JEFFERSON CITY— The Missouri State Highway Commission will meet Oct. 9 and 10 in the hearing room at the highway building in Jefferson City.

Scheduled delegations will be heard by the commission on Oct. 9, and other commission business of a routine nature will be transacted.

On Oct. 10, other routine business not transacted the first day will be conducted.

Cleanliness is the key to keeping minor cuts minor and free of complications. Resist the urge to put a cut to your mouth or blow on it. Instead, wash it immediately with soap and water. When the wound and surrounding skin have been cleansed, hold a sterile gauze pad over the cut until the bleeding stops.

What's the law?

The case of the carefree criminal

By: JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

Looey choose a life of crime primarily because the hours were optional. Hy enjoyed a gay and carefree life and resented any restriction.

When it looked like the police might catch up with him, however, and the "free" might be removed from "carefree," Looey hurriedly sought out a priest for advice and, in doing so, confessed all of his crimes to him.

Shortly thereafter, Looey's worst fears materialized. He was captured by several policemen and was charged with several serious crimes. And, while his life started out as one little cell, it looked like he might end up in one big cell when the priest was called upon to testify as a witness against him.

"Not in this case," retorted the prosecuting attorney. "Not only wasn't Looey a member of the priest's parish, he wasn't even a member of the priest's religion. Consequently, there's absolutely no restriction on the testimony of the priest."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE,would you permit the priest to testify against carefree Looey?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that confessions by a penitent to a clergyman for spiritual advice and or comfort is privileged even though the penitent is not a member of the clergyman's religion or church. For a penitent, concluded the judge in effect, there's no such thing as the wrong church or the wrong pew.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

Sweatshirt to bed

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Your article about bursitis prompts me to suggest something to your readers that I discovered several years ago by accident. I suffered from bursitis for many years. Extremely painful shoulders caused me to have to exercise each morning, but the exercise was painful and time-consuming. One cold night I wore a sweatshirt to bed and discovered the next morning that my shoulders felt better than they had in years.

Cool nights in the Southwest and cold winters in the East probably expose many people to situations similar to mine. People don't seem to realize that with conventional blankets on our beds that our shoulders are frequently exposed to the night cold without our being aware that they are much colder than the rest of our bodies.

My acquaintances often kid me about the habit I have developed of wearing a sweatshirt to bed, but I can assure you that it works very well to ward off aching shoulders. My condition had been diagnosed by a physician as bursitis, and I was told that the only thing to do was to continue the exercises that were already a part of my daily routine.

DEAR READER — An excellent suggestion. Many readers have found that warm socks at night help prevent leg cramps. Cooling the muscles leads to muscle cramps and stiffness. I'm sure that a warm garment over the shoulders and neck could help a number of people. In this winter of fuel crises your suggestion is particularly welcome.

DEAR DR. LAMB — In reference to your column on the mother who was an alcoholic, my family was appalled that you made absolutely no mention of Alcoholics Anonymous. This organization and its related group, Al-Anon, help millions of families that haven't found the least bit of comforting advice in a psychiatrist's office.

Alcoholism is an illness — not a sign of severe problems. It might be to your advantage to become better informed about Alcoholics Anonymous and, if you see fit, in the future give more prudent and realistic advice to those in need of help! I, myself, am not a member of A.A.

DEAR READER — Don't get so excited! If you were a regular reader of my columns you would know that I have previously recommended both Alcoholics Anonymous and Al-Anon. The latter, as you know, is for the families of persons with an alcoholic problem. I think they are both fine organizations, and both serve a real need.

Now, won't you admit you overstated your case a little bit? And, won't you consider that regardless of your own experience with alcoholics, perhaps in your family, that not all such problems are alike. Alcohol is often part of a serious psychological problem needing psychiatric help. Individuals who have evidence of real psychological problems, as the mother in the case you asked about did, need professional help. Why try to downgrade either the psychiatrist or Alcoholics Anonymous. Both serve a useful purpose.

Marine band to perform

CAPE GIRARDEAU — The United States Marine Corps Band, "The President's Own", will make its third appeaance in Cape Girardeau on Veterans Day, Oct. 28.

Sponsored by the Cape Girardeau Rotary Club, the Band will give an afternoon performance at 1 p.m. for students of the area. The evening performance will begin at 8 p.m. Both concerts will be in the Arena Building.

All proceeds, above expenses, will go to charitable causes. Three- fourths of this year's proceeds will go to crippled children's work in Southeast Missouri through the regional Easter Seal Center here. In prior years, the area Boy Scout and Girl Scout councils have been major recipients.

Tickets may be ordered by writing to: Marine Band Concert, Post Office Box 901, Cape Girardeau, Mo. 63701. Checks covering the number of tickets must be enclosed.

Food stamp changes proposed

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The U. S. Department of Agriculture has proposed amendments to food stamp program regulations which provide permanent procedures for retroactively restoring a household's benefits wrongfully denied, delayed or terminated through administrative error. Since January, interim procedures have been in effect.

In the proposed regulations, USDA asks comments on three methods for restoring lost benefits. All of the methods involve offsetting the household's purchase requirement with the lost benefit entitlement.

The proposed regulations differ from the interim procedures in these areas:

-- Recipients can receive lost benefits without going through the fair hearing process, if the client, food stamp caseworker and supervisor agree.

--Lost benefits will be restored only for the 12 months preceding the discovery of the error.

-- Recipients' lost benefits will be reduced by the amount of any outstanding claims against them.

Today in U. S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, Oct. 3, the 276th day of 1974. There are 89 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1952, the British exploded their first atomic bomb, in a test off the coast of Australia.

On this date —

In 1876, Johns Hopkins University opened in Baltimore.

In 1935, Italian forces invaded Ethiopia.

In 1954, a nine-power conference in London agreed that West Germany should enter the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Ten years ago: Hurricane Hilda left more than 30 persons dead as it roared across a nearly deserted coastal area west of New Orleans.

Five years ago: The threat of a strike against major U.S. railroads was averted for 60 days as President Nixon set up an emergency fact-finding board.

One year ago: Willi Stoph was replaced by Horst Sindermann as premier of East Germany. Stoph became chairman of the council of state.

Fruits and vegetables, as they ripen, tend to increase in water content. An apple seed, only 10 per cent water, will produce a ripe apple that is 80 per cent water. A ripe pineapple is 87 per cent water, a tomato is 95 per cent, and a watermelon is 97 per cent water.

On the other hand, a herring is 67 per cent water, a chicken 75 per cent, a frog 78 per cent, a lobster 79 per cent, an earthworm 80 per cent, and man has 70 per cent of his body weight in water.

Water is as vital as the air we breathe, yet we are careless with it. We pollute and waste it. By the time it reaches our homes, it contains every chemical and compound known to man. It is no longer the clean, fresh water that forms in the clouds.

EQUAL HOUSING OPPORTUNITY

WHY CAN A SALES POSITION WITH NATIONAL CHEMSEARCH BE IMPORTANT TO YOU?

MONEY
The average first year earnings of our salesmen exceeds $18,000 in commissions, and grows substantially by the second and third years. They are backed by a drawing account up to $300 weekly and an outstanding program of fringe benefits.
OPPORTUNITY
We are recognized as one of the fastest growing industrial corporations in America which can provide the opportunity to advance into sales management as soon as your capabilities can allow.
ATTITUDE
You are the most important person in this company. We want you to use your own initiative and creative approach and you don't have to do things just like everyone else.
COMPANY & PRODUCTS
We are a major manufacturer of industrial products -- 55 years old, AAA-1, NYSE listed -- and our greatest growth lies before us. The exceptional quality of our products and their use by nearly every type of business and organization has created a virtually ideal situation. No previous sales or technical background necessary for the right individual. Some travel required.
If you are the right person, call: we'd like to meet you personally.

Deaths

CARL E. GORDON

BERNIE — The minister at funeral services scheduled at 2 p.m. Friday in Duffie- Rainey Funeral Home for Carl Eugene Gordon, 46, who died Monday, will be the Rev. Gene Langhofer, whose name was incorrectly listed as Gene Layne Hoefer in Wednesday's obituary notice.

WILLIAM E. EDWARDS

MALDEN - William Elbert Edwards, 86, a retired farmer, died Wednesday at Dunklin County Memorial Hospital in Kennett.

He was born Nov. 14, 1887 in Campbell to the late Thomas Ripley Edwards and Margaret Melvina Edwards.

On Nov. 6, 1910, he married Mary R. Bromley, who survives. He was a member of Bethany General Baptist Church.

Other survivors include one son, Cade Edwards of Kennett; one daughter, Ruth Hollick of Bakersfield, Calif.; one brother, Ed Edwards of Campbell; and four grandchildren, 10 great-grandchildren and two great-great- grandchildren.

Friends may call from 5 to 8 p.m. today at Landess Funeral Home, where services are scheduled at 2 p.m. Friday. The Rev. Fred Mammon will officiate.

Burial will be in Memorial Park Cemetery.

ROBERT E. GRAMMER

PEACH ORCHARD — Robert Eugene Grammer, infant son of Gary Grammar of Clarkton and Joflin Grammer of Peach Orchard, died Tuesday at his home. He was born June 21, 1974.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Virginia Grammer of Clarkton, and his maternal grandparents, the Rev. and Mrs. Junior Crane of Peach Orchard.

Services were conducted Wednesday at Tatum's General Baptist Church by the Rev. Lewis Willis.

Burial followed in Stanfield Cemetery near Clarkton with Russell Mortuary of Gideon in charge of arrangements.

Lane, the street that will run directly to the building, has been graded. It will not be surfaced, however, until after construction is completed, Hill said.

The new building will be located on land purchased by the school board directly behind and south of the present high school building, which Hill thinks offers another advantage.

This way, he said, some of the facilities of the high school, as well as personnel, can be used by both groups and such an exchange of services, facilities and personnel will result in a monetary saving for the district.

"This will probably be the last major construction in the district for awhile," Hill said. "That is," he added, "unless something unexpected happens, like a major upsurge in population. And, of course, that's unlikely."

In order to win approval, the bond issue must receive a two-third majority of the votes cast in the election.

"I don't foresee any major problems," Hill said, looking ahead to the election and planned construction.

LIMON COMPANY FINDS A HOME

NEW YORK (AP) — The Jose Limon Dance Company, which is carrying on since the death of its founder, will make the 92nd Street Young Men's and Young Women's Hebrew Assn. its official home.

Mr. Carl Urbont, executive director of the Y, said that in the 1940s and '50s the building had been the modern dance center of New York. "It is our aim to revive that center," he said. He said the Kaufmann Concert Hall stage will be enlarged by 1975.

The company will rehearse, teach and perform at the YMHA. It has 16 dancers, Ruth Currier as artistic director and a technical stuff of three. It will work toward creating a repertory theater of American modern dance and also will continue to tour.

At the time of Limon's death, the company was denied the right to perform any of the works of Doris Humphrey. Now that the company has proved stable through the past year and a half, it has received permission again to include Humphrey works in its repertory.

World News in Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has voted overwhelmingly to slash former President Richard M. Nixon's expense money to $200,000 but rejected an effort to cut off even his pension as repudiation for Watergate. President Ford originally asked $850,000 for Nixon. The House bill now goes to the Senate.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Betty Ford's sudden ordeal with cancer has touched off a sympathetic reaction among women across the nation and an awakening to the dangers they also face. A spokesman for the American Cancer Society says telephones have been "ringing off the hook" with calls from thousands of women who want to make appointments with doctors and clinics for breast cancer examinations. Meanwhile, more than 10,000 letters, 500 phone calls and 200 telegrams have poured into the White House and Bethesda Naval Hospital since word came of Mrs. Ford's breast cancer operation Saturday.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal prosecutors have linked one new name and may add others to the conspiracy case that has brought five Nixon loyalists to trial on Watergate-related criminal charges. A prosecutors' memorandum said new evidence made it necessary to add one co-conspirator to the list drawn up by the Watergate grand jury. It did not name the person, but a source close to the case confirmed the man is Richard Moore, the former special counsel to Nixon.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sheik Zaki Yamani, Saudi Arabi's petroleum minister, warns that another Middle East war could break out in the next six months if the United States does not force Israel to pull back all the way to its 1967 borders. However, if Israel yields all land occupied during the 1967 war, Saudi Arabia should be able to persuade all Arab members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries to sharply reduce current oil prices, he said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government is preparing contingency plans to divert some coal supplies from electric utilities and to embargo coal exports in the event of a miners' strike next month. These are among several measures outlined in a memo from the Federal Energy Administration to the Interior Department.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The end of cheap oil will force the industrialized nations to change their lifestyles, says Iran's finance minister. "Once cheap oil is no longer available, you have to do something: either lower your standard of living, forget about excessive consumption and about waste being an important part of your economy, or you have to increase productivity, or both," said Hushang Ansary.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — No major progress toward an Arab-Israeli settlement is expected during Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's trip to the Middle East next week, a senior American official said today. Apparently trying to head off anticipation of a breakthrough, the official said all that is expected from the visits to Egypt, Syria, Jordan and Israel is an understanding of what may come next.

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The Dominican government has suspended negotiations with terrorists holding American diplomat Barbara Hutchison and six other hostages in the Venezuelan Consulate. "If they want to be tough, we'll be tough," the national police chief, Gen. Rafael Guzman Acosta, told local radio stations. He was apparently referring to a statement from the terrorists that their demands were not negotiable. They have demanded $1 million and safe conduct to Cuba and Mexico for themselves and 37 political prisoners. President Joaquin Balaguer has agreed only to send the terrorists in the consulate — believed to number six — out of the country.

Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Radio auction set for Oct. 14

MALDEN - Malden Rotary Club's annual radio auction sale will be held Oct. 14-19.

The auction will be conducted over radio station KTCB with members of the Rotary Club serving as auctioneers. Bidding will begin at 5 p.m. each day.

More than 150 area merchants and businessmen have donated articles to be auctioned off.

Proceeds from the sale will be used for club civic projects.

Risco juniors to give play

RISCO - The junior class of Risco High School will present a play at 8 p.m. Friday in the high school auditorium.

The title of the play is "Mumbo-Jumbo", written by Jack Barnard and directed by the play's sponsors, Miss Peggy Sides and Mrs. Natalie Griffith.

Malden C of C to host dinner

MALDEN -- The Malden Chamber of Commerce will hold a dinner meeting at 7 p.m. Monday in the school cafeteria to discuss a bond issue for the city's waterworks and sewage and street systems.

Interested citizens, as well as chamber members, may attend.

Mainord arrested

NEW MADRID — Jimmy Lee Mainord Jr. of Lilbourn was arrested Wednesday and charged with driving while intoxicated and failure to yield right of way to an emergency vehicle.

He was released under $50 bond, according to City Marshal Virgil "Flip" Dees.

beatings while serving as jail trusty and has also been linked to beatings in the jail. He also reportedly has served as a farm hand for the sheriff. All of the allegations are reportedly under investigation by state and federal officers.

The Pemiscot County prosecutor today admitted authorizing Butler's release last week.

"He came to us with medical reports and a recommendation by his doctor that he be allowed to seek additional medical help for a blood circulation problem in his leg," Stephenson said. "If I had not granted his release and something had happened to him ... I would be facing a big law suit."

The former Missouri and Mississippi state penitentary inmate had his patrol revoked March 8 after being arrested in Stoddard County and charged with burglary and stealing.

"New Madrid County authorities were to have picked Butler up today after his hearing," Stephenson said.

Pat Staggs, who was seriously injured in the accident and Butler were both taken to the Dunklin County Memorial Hospital in Kennett.

Butler reportedly has recently been a patient at Methodist Hospital in Memphis for treatment of his circulatory problem and also spent 10 days in the Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital at Hayti recently.

And Ehrlichman posed a new problem for the judge: a claim that trial for conspiracy and obstruction of justice will place him in double jeopardy since Ehrlichman already stands convicted in the plumbers case.

The prosecutors' memorandum said the new evidence made it necessary to add one co-conspirator to the list drawn up by the Watergate grand jury. It did not name the person.

But a source close to the case confirmed the man is Richard A. Moore, the former special counsel to Nixon, who testified at the Senate Watergate hearings that he urged John W. Dean III to tell the cover-up story to the president.

Moore, who had been a holdover in the Ford administration, resigned Wednesday. The prosecutor's office had included Moore on its list of 44 prospective witnesses, largely because he was involved in some of the taped conversations that will be introduced into evidence.

At the time of his Senate appearance in July a year ago, the white-haired Moore was represented by Herbert J. Miller, retained by Nixon after his resignation.

The addition brought the number of unindicted co-conspirators to 20, according to sources. The only name that has surfaced officially is Nixon's.

The prosecutors indicated the list may be extended further, saying:

"The government may prove at trial that individuals other than those named as defendants or identified as co-conspirators by the grand jury were in fact members of the conspiracy charged in the indictment."

By the end of Wednesday's court day, Sirica had finished preliminary questioning of 315 prospective jurors, in public and private, and had excused 171 who said they could not be sequestered for the 3 to 4 months the trial might take.

The remaining 144 were to undergo more thorough, private questioning in the coming days. If a sufficient number survive questioning for possible bias, lawyers will have a chance to eliminate a specified number until 12 jurors and 6 alternates are seated.

CAPOBIANCO TO SAN DIEGO

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Tito Capobianco, opera producer and director, has been named artistic director elect of the San Diego Opera, effective this season. He will become artistic director upon Walter Herbert's retirement after the 1976-77 season.

Capobianco has conceived and directed many new productions for Beverly Sills at the New York City Opera, including "Julius Caesar," "Tales of Hoffmann," "Maria Stuarda" and "Roberto Devereux." He recently created a new "Norma" production for Joan Sutherland at the San Francisco Opera.

Nixon asks to be excused from testifying

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lawyers for former President Richard M. Nixon asked U.S. District Judge John Sirica today to excuse Nixon from testifying in the Watergate cover-up trial.

The request was made in two motions to quash subpoenas issued for Nixon's appearance at the trial by one of the defendants and by the government.

Sirica refused to state the grounds cited in the motions but they were believed to claim that Nixon's health will not permit him to travel for at least a month.

The former president is in a hospital in California for treatment of phlebitis and a blood clot in his right lung. His doctor said earlier in the week Nixon should not travel for up to three months.

In a statement, Sirica said the motions to quash the subpoenas will be kept under seal "until the court has had an opportunity to review them thoroughly."

The judge received the motions while he continued for the third day the meticulous task of selecting jurors for the trial.

In the first two hours today he had questioned only two members of the pool of 144 persons left from the screening in the first two days. One of those was excused.

The questioning is going on behind locked doors in Sirica's courtroom, which has been prepared for the long trial ahead with 175 sets of earphones to enable jurors and spectators to listen to the tapes as they are introduced into evidence.

But those not in the courtroom will not be able to hear the controversial White House tapes.

In a letter memorandum to Sirica, Chief District Judge George L. Hart Jr. said the radio and television networks cannot receive copies of any of the tapes admitted into evidence.

Hart said he understands that typed transcripts will be placed into evidence and available to the news media, adding "that would appear to constitute more than adequate disclosure to the public of what the tapes contained."

Meanwhile federal prosecutors linked one new name to the conspiracy case that has brought five Nixon loyalists to trial on criminal charges of obstructing justice.

In making the claim of newly discovered evidence the prosecutors said they made add other names to the list of alleged conspirators.

The five defendants, John D. Ehrlichman, H.R. Haldeman, John N. Mitchell, Kenneth W. Parkinson and Robert C. Mardian, appeared to take the snail's pace in stride.

With the jury selection process not half completed, it appeared that the first testimony in the trial will not come until the middle of next week at the earliest.

But the forces that will shape the trial continued to converge, nonetheless.

Richard M. Nixon's lawyers were expected to ask Sirica to excuse the former president from testifying at the trial on grounds that his health will not permit it.

Ex-convict involved in mishap

CARUTHERSVILLE — Dwight Butler, an often-arrested key figure in a reputed investigation into the activities of New Madrid County Sheriff W. L. "Cowboy" Ramsey, has been arrested again.

This time the rural Gideon ex-convict, who is still wanted by Mississippi authorities for parole violation, was arrested in Dunklin County for driving while his license is revoked following a traffic accident at 11:20 p.m. Wednesday on Highway 25 near Holcomb.

"Butler had been released Sept. 26 from the Pemiscot County jail on his own recognizance at the recommendation of prosecutor Art Stephenson," Sheriff Thad Shelly said today.

On July 17, Butler was arrested in Pemiscot County on a driving while intoxicated charge and later was linked to a fraud charge. He draw a 30-day suspended jail sentence and had his license revoked on the DWI charge and was to have appeared in Magistrate Court today to face the fraud charge.

At the time of the July arrest Butler was supposed to be in New Madrid County jail, and Sheriff Ramsey claimed Butler was working as an undercover agent for his department. His office also told Pemiscot County authorities that Butler was supposed to be in the hospital at the time of his arrest.

Butler has been accused by former New Madrid County prisoners of ordering their

Funds sought for new Dexter school

DEXTER — Dexter school officials are seeking funds for the construction of a new junior high school through a bond issue referendum tentatively set for Nov. 19.

The exact amount of the bond issue will not be determined until further cost studies have been made by the architect, bond attorneys and the board of education.

"This isn't an overnight decision," Supt. Thurston Hill said of the planned construction. "We've been considering possibilities for many years. The new junior high building has always been part of our long range plan, but we couldn't take action until the other buildings were paid off."

Hill explained that the proposed building is the last step in a long range construction plan first initiated in 1949.

In that year construction started on Central Elementary School, which was finished two years later.

At approximately every five-year interval since then, another major construction has taken place.

Southwest Elementary School was started five years later, and the high school was built in 1961. In 1968-69, a 10-room addition was built to one of the schools, and now the junior high building is being planned.

"We're in pretty good shape right now," Hill said. The district is free of debt and has been able to even go so far as to decrease the tax rate in recent years.

Hill said he is not worried about Dexter taxpayers rebelling at the thought of paying slightly higher taxes for better schools.

"The people in Dexter have always been dedicated to good school," he said. "They've always been good to finance and support the schools. In the 38 years I've been here, they've never defeated a tax increase."

Knowing there is a limit to everything, Hill stated, "You don't want to go past that limit. You don't even want to ask them to."

The new junior high building will contain 14 classrooms, two science rooms, an art room, a home economic room, a special education room, a choral room, a band room, an industrial arts room, a physical education facility, kitchen and cafeteria, a library, a clinic, several small work rooms and offices.

The building will house 52,958 square feet of floor space in a single-story structure and will be electrically heated and air-conditioned.

If the bond issue is approved, the district also plans to build five additional classrooms on to the high school building.

Hill said the new high school classrooms will relieve the pressure currently felt at the school which is now so crowded that trailers are being used for classrooms.

The junior high building also would relieve overcrowding pressure on the elementary schools by placing sixth grade students in the new facility, Hill said.

Hill said enrollment in grades six, seven and eight will remain high for a number of years since enrollment in the elementary schools is growing.

It is hoped the building can be finished and in use by the 1976-77 school year, Hill said.

Preliminary work is already taking place. Pilot

I-55 section to be opened to traffic soon

A 12.7-mile section of Interstate 55 in Pemiscot County will be opened for traffic Oct. 7, according to Lionel T. Murray, District 10 engineer for the Missouri State Highway Department.

The highway section runs from Hayti south to Cooter and is the final segment of the Interstate 55 route to be opened in Missouri.

Murray said all construction work has not been completed and that motorists should use care when traveling the section. Uncompleted work includes shoulder construction, guardrail installation and erosion control measures.

Work on the section began early in 1972 at a cost of $14,075,000 and included 15 bridges, widening of four bridges, construction of a 24-foot wide concrete lane and resurfacing of the present Highway 61 route which will become the southbound lane of I-55.

The road incorporates the latest safety features and should provide relief from the frequent accidents which occur along this segment of road, Murray said.

$80 stolen from purse

The theft of $80 from a purse at Sikeston Convalescent Center, 103 Kennedy Drive, was discovered about 5 p.m. Wednesday, according to police.

Police said the purse was in the ladies' dressing room when the theft occurred.

Home gutted by fire; dog survives flames

Two persons received minor injuries Wednesday night when fire gutted the Vida Kirkwood home, 112 Dixie St., but a puppy, trapped inside as the house burned, survived without apparent injuries.

The fire apparently broke out about 8:50 p.m. when an electrical connection in the ceiling short circuited. The fire quickly spread through the six-room frame home and forced Mrs. Kirkwood and her nine children to flee the house.

One of Mrs. Kirkwood's sons was overcome by smoke and was revived with oxygen at the scene, according to Fire Chief Larry Linnemeyer, who said the boy, whose name he did not learn, declined hospitalization.

Volunteer Charlie Stroud received a puncture wound in the left heel. He did not require hospitalization either, Linnemeyer said.

The puppy was discovered huddled in a corner of the bathroom by firemen after the fire had been extinguished. The firemen were drawn to the dog by the sound of whining.

Linnemeyer said the dog, which was more terrified than injured, was covered by a piece of either the ceiling or a drawer which, with the water from the fire hoses, provided enough protection to keep it alive.

Linnemeyer said the family lost all of its possessions, and the house was a total loss.

Firemen had just returned to the station at 12:15 a.m. today when they were called to a burning farm house four and a half miles south of Miner on Route HH.

Linnemeyer said the Miner Fire Department responded to the fire call, so the Sikeston truck returned to the station after Linnemeyer saw that the house could not be saved.

The vacant farm house reportedly belonged to Cecil Godwin of Sikeston, Linnemeyer said.

At 4:50 p.m. Wednesday, firemen were called to corner of Ruth and South West streets to wash down spilled gasoline following a traffic accident.

THE SELLERS OF CHEWING GUM AND SHOE STRINGS

The metropolis of Fairtown in the country of Acirema had a new shopping center in which were numerous dealers. The mayor and city council considered them as a tax base. They were a target for every drive. Money was hard to make, and in an effort to attract more trade and get people into their stores, some of the dealers ran a special sale on shoestrings and chewing gum. Competition was keen, and the price kept dropping until it was way below "wholesale."

Not only were the regular customers buying extra shoestrings and chewing gum, but other dealers were coming in droves to take advantage of this bargain. One of these dealers, not wanting to lose more money, called a meeting at a nearby restaurant. Detective Anonymous was tipped off about the meeting and bugged the establishment.

At about this time the lawyers decided they were not getting enough for wrapping up the moot questions; or in collecting your accounts, wanted bar rates. The real estate dealers agreed to raise their commission. If you didn't want to pay it, then sell your house yourself. In this case it always seemed hard to get a loan, because apparently the loaners had some kinship with the dealers. The TV and washing machine fixers agreed they should get more for changing your tubes or fixing the valves. The office machine boys insisted on getting more to manhandle your typewriter or adding machine. The barbers, not to be outdone, insisted you either pay them extra or clip your own. The medicos wanted higher prices for probing the proboscis. Everyone seemed to have his hand out. The most popular word was "more."

The good people got a little hot under the collar at all this gigging, and brought pressure on the General Attorney to do something about it. After two grand juries, the General Attorney, to quiet this uproar, finally brought the merchants who had been selling shoestrings and chewing gum to trial for violating the monopoly laws. Although this way of getting evidence was illegal, the judge found these dealers guilty on the basis of what Detective Anonymous came up with, and levied a heavy fine, with threat of jail sentence if they did it again. The fact that this method of getting evidence was not according to Hoyle made no difference. The others, being a service, were exempt.

The facts are these: in Fairtown or other cities of Acirema, you couldn't qualify for lily status by selling shoestrings or chewing gum. Service was the lily.

THIS IS DOWNRIGHT SILLY

A famous daily newspaper columnist recently published a list of those who had given $50 to $100 donations to the campaigns of Congressman Hungate and other candidates, inferring that the givers were looking for favors.

How silly can a news writer get? This newspaper has donated $50 to $100, sometimes more, to dozens of campaigns, and in the over fifty years the editor has been here, did so without expectation of special favors or economic gains.

Dozens of other friends of candidates have done the same.

Sometimes these gifts have been for party reasons, sometimes (and more often) because we liked the candidate, thought he'd make a good public official and were willing to provide financial as well as lip service to help him get elected.

We can understand where there might be some ulterior motive where large money gifts are made, but we seriously doubt if any one ever donated $50 or $100 for the purpose of getting back any dividends in either money or favors.

THE PRESIDENT'S FATEFUL DECISION

Long Island Press

Now with one stroke of the pen, President Ford has dealt a severe blow to the doctrine of equal justice. Mr. Ford has in effect subscribed to a double standard.

Burlington (Vt.) Free Press

President Ford in granting the pardon did the right thing at the right time under the circumstances. The so- called pardon was eminently justified and we warmly applaud it.

New York Post - At best, millions of Americans will believe he ineptly failed to recognize the meaning and consequences of his decision. At worst, they will ask whether this was the deal he made with the man who appointed him to be carried out when an indictment appeared imminent.

Philadelphia Evening Bulletin

The American people may not want to see a former President jailed, but they do want an accounting and an admission. They want to know that the government is indeed one of laws and not men, a government of equal justice.

Newsday

It does appear, though, that a subtle form of plea bargaining has taken place in which Nixon's evidence on Watergate will be made available while he is protected from prosecution. We would have preferred that the courts make this decision, but it's possible that the ends of justice may yet be served.

Rutland (Vt.) Herald

If he were tried and convicted of wrongdoing, most Americans would probably agree with many of his supporters and critics, who have said they didn't want to see him punished further. But a blanket pardon in advance flouts the law that all Presidents, including Nixon and Mr. Ford, are sworn to uphold.

Christian Science Monitor

We are deeply disturbed about the implications of the Nixon pardon for the moral leadership of the United States.

Arkansas Democrat

We may actually hear more now than if he had not been pardoned. He will not be able to escape by pleading self-incrimination. Now he can be forced to testify and can be indicted for perjury if he lies.

Alabama Journal (Montgomery)

No matter how you may rationalize it Mr. Ford's decision amounts to a presidential finding of guilty. The very word "pardon" in the legal sense, implies previous criminal misconduct.

Worcester Evening Gazette

Norfolk, Va., Ledger- Star

Mr. Ford's mistake is not in pardoning the former President, but in giving him a blank- check release in advance of any indictment, trial, conviction and sentencing.

Atlanta Journal

Mr. Ford's action means that the era of the imperial presidency is not yet ended after all.

Arizona Daily Star

The pardon put the blinders on justice.

The American way has now been aborted to mean that one can, if high enough in position, be above the law that he can be pardoned even before being indicted and going to trial.

Wall Street Journal

Perhaps President Ford made a mistake in acting so swiftly and suddenly to pardon former President Nixon. But on this question even more than most, criticism is easy and decision is hard.

The clashing considerations that forged the dilemma before Mr. Ford are entirely familiar. On the one hand, no one really wants to see Mr. Nixon go to jail, and even the spectacle of him standing in the dock would convey a banana republic flavor to onlookers from other nations and other generations. On a personal level, Mr. Nixon's life has been destroyed, and the penalty he has paid is quite sufficient to deter wrongdoing by future Presidents. More would seem vindictive.

On the other hand, no one should be above the law, and Mr. Nixon has not paid even lip service to the possibility of his legal guilt. Despite the judgment of all 10 Republicans on the Judiciary Committee, the extent of his wrongdoing apparently is still unclear to a not insubstantial minority of the American people; a court verdict might help. With John Dean going to jail and a whole list of aides about to stand trial how is it possible to justify leniency for the man who was on top?

These are two exceedingly powerful sets of arguments. We find it hard to argue much with anyone from either side who is absolutely confident of his own convictions, though we do wonder whether absolute confidence is quite the appropriate attitude for anyone. For our own part the one thing we have been persuaded of is that the question should be settled not simply on the technicalities of the law but as a matter of high politics. The deciding factor must be the future good of the nation. But, once you have said that, what do you do?

Clearly Watergate has the potential of becoming an American Dreyfus Affair. in the sense of shaping and distracting political life for a generaion. But to avoid that, which force must be dissipated? There are those who believe Mr. Nixon was hounded from office, who view further prosecution as spiteful. There are those who believe he was imposing a police state, who will now believe he escaped final judgment. Neither is a majority but each is far larger than to take two groups that exercised politics in the last two decades, the John Burch Society or the Students for a Democratic Society.

The anti- Nixon forces have won the larger question, and their bitterness over a flawed victory probably will recede more quickly than would the losers bitterness over total humiliation.

Since this was the President's predisposition, it is probably though not certainly better for him to face the question now rather than later. He could have postponed it in the hope of something would turn up but instead he chose the clean decision. Clearly, he was worried about the time to be consumed by the legal process. From his own standpoint it is better to pay the costs now than in say October of 1976. But from the nation's standpoint too, it is better not to have the after math of the impeachment crisis dragging on indefinitely.

The danger is that by so quickly taking unto himself a bit of Watergate. Mr. Ford may revive the atmosphere of surly suspicion that has had so little time to subside. But he has certainly proved he is not a President afraid to make the tough decisions and we can at least hope that in the end his pardon for Mr. Nixon will prove to be another step in putting Watergate behind us.

New York Times

President Ford speaks of compassion. It is tragic that he had no compassion and concern for the Constitution and the government of law that he has sworn to uphold and defend. He could probably have taken no single act of a noncriminal nature that would have more gravely damaged the credibility of this government in the eyes of the world and of its own people than this unconscionable act of pardon.

Rather than calm public passions and restore a fundamental sense of national unity, Mr. Ford has ignited fresh controversy. It might have stirred less public outrage if the President in what amounted to secret and discreditable plea bargaining with his predecessor had insisted on a frank and forthright confession of guilt. Instead he settled for an unctuous guileful statement from Mr. Nixon in which the former President admits nothing specific and skillfully blurs the issues. The Justice Department's deal with former Vice - President Agnew last year was seriously questionable; Sunday's arrangement sinks below even that poor precedent.

DO WE TURN BACK?

Mistakenly, a great many people, especially among the young, have blamed the inquisitive questioning minds of science for most of the real or imagined ills that currently beset society. They reject the technology -- or supertechnology -- that has accompanied America's highest achievement.

This rejection has brought the country to a point where Dr. Karl G. Harr, Jr., president of the Aerospace Industries Association, has been compelled to declare, "we are at the critical point where America must make up its mind. We have to decide as a nation whether we really enjoy having the highest quality of life ever known or whether we will be satisfied to fall back into the pack economically and in our standard of living. This is not a matter of national price but of the very survival of the life- style we have, heretofore, held to be important. Indeed, on this decision, may rest the vital security of the nation itself."

Dr. Harr shows how high technology has been the primary source of U. S. strength. Technology has given us the edge in competing with the world in the matter of cheap labor. It has offset our lack of a strong, competitive position worldwide in raw materials. Thus, "If we are to continue to enjoy a vigorous economy and maintain a satisfactory balance of trade -- not to mention the problem of maintaining national security -- we will have to stay out in front technologically and particularly in the area of supertechnology .." In other words, it is time we checked our slipping sense of values and national priorities.

KGB ACTIVE IN U. S .

The Soviet secret police, or KGB, are not confining their activities to the Soviet Union. Columnist Paul Scott has revealed that the KGB has been operating in Washington, D. C., against U. S. citizens.

Earlier this year Wilson Lucom, publisher of an anti-communist news-letter, decided that members of the Soviet Embassy staff should have the opportunity to read the brilliant and inspiring writings of Alexander Solzhenitsyn, the exiled Soviet author. At his own expense, Lucom prepared and mailed out copies in Russian of some of Solzhenitsyn's writings to the homes of the embassy staff members.

Members of the KGB, who operate in this country under the guise of embassy employees, were furious. The agents confiscated all of Solzhenitsyn's writings that they could from the other Russians. Then several agents went to Luxom's place of business during the night. They filled his locks with a gummed substance so that they could not be unlocked. Then they tied a rubber hose and a hangman's noose to the front door. The deadly threat was clear.

The KGB continues to harass Lucom by calling his home at all hours of the day and night, then hanging up without saying a word.

Lucom refuses to be intimidated. He plans to continue his anti- communist activities, not only in the United States but throughout the world wherever communism threatens the freedoms of men. We need more people like Lucom, who will take positive and direct action against the evil of communism. HLH.

ECONOMICS MADE EASY

WASHINGTON -- I listened to the economic summit for two days and it was a great inspiration to see so many learned men from all walks of life tell us why the country is in such a mess. Although there was some disagreement, this is what we now know for sure.

The Republicans are responsible for inflation because of their tight money policies, high interest rates and giving in to big business at every turn.

The Democrats are responsible for inflation because of their large welfare programs, reckless government spending and catering to the interests of labor.

In order to cure the upward spiral of prices, we have to make more money available for business investment.

We must make bank loans more difficult for business investment.

Arthur Burns of the Federal Reserve Board is responsible for the recession we are in.

George Meany is responsible for the recession we're in.

There is no recession.

We cannot solve our economic problems until we bring down the cost of fuel, particularly oil and natural gas.

The only way we can get more fuel is to raise the price of oil and gas to encourage the oil companies.

Congress is responsible for the crisis because of the large amounts of money it has voted for unneeded government programs.

Congress has to vote new funds to keep the country from going into a depression.

Unless we have a tax cut, the economy will never recover from the doldrums it is in.

The only way to lick inflation is to raise taxes and keep the dollar from being devalued.

The Arabs are responsible for all our troubles.

There is no inflation. Our main problem is stagflation.

We must stop selling agricultural products abroad so we can bring down the price of food at home.

We must increase our food exports so we can have a more favorable balance of payments.

Labor has to show more responsibility when asking for wage increases.

Labor is being penalized for the mistakes of management.

We must have wage and price controls to ward off disaster.

Introduction of wage and price controls would be a disaster.

The people who are suffering the most from inflation are the poor, the sick and the old.

The people who are suffering the most from inflation are the brokers.

We cannot lick inflation overnight.

Inflation must be licked overnight.

Summit conferences are the best way to resolve differences in economic philosophies.

Calling back Nixon's economists to tell us how we can win the battle against inflation is like asking the Italian general staff to tell us how to win World War II.

JACK ANDERSON SAYS: The Senator from Ashland Oil

The bluff, burly Cook champions Ashland's interests on the Senate floor and accepts special favors, in return, from the oil company. The relationship between Cook and the company is so cozy, according to Senate sources, that Ashland has sent ready-made speeches to Capitol Hill for the Senator to deliver.

Cook, in turn, has used the company's jet as a commuter plane to wing back and forth between Washington and his Kentucky constituency. Just three weeks ago, a Cook aid hopped the Ashland shuttle to attend the funeral of a prominent Kentucky Republican.

An Ashland vice president, Clyde Webb, also has the run of the Senator's office. His daughter, Betty, is on the Senator's payroll. A handsome, hand- carved goose over the Senator's chair was a gift from Webb.

The oil executive is also a familiar figure around Cook's winter home outside Sarasota, Fla. In fact, Webb used to dock his small fishing boat at Cook's place, where the Senator used it as his own.

This historic seat was arranged for Webb, of course, by the obliging Senator Cook, who happened to be cochairman of the inaugural committee.

Marlow Cook, with his silver thatch and solid bulk, has become a formidable figure in the Senate. Able and articulate, he has a reputation as an operator in the backrooms and a brawler in open debate.

His political hero was the late Sen. Everett Dirksen, R-Ill., who had the shaggy appearance of an affectionate Saint Bernard. He won the uncontested title of Wizard of OOze by being able to talk his way out of the most flagrant inconsistencies.

Cook is also capable of evoking a certain soulful appeal, and he can turn on the ooze. One of his favorite sayings, moreover, is that "consistency is the hobgoblin of little minds."

But in the terms of Senate husbandry, Cook is less the affable Saint Bernard than the temperamental prize bull. He is easily aroused and can become a one- man stampede.

It is the political custom of Kentucky voters to choose one Senator from the hinterlands, the other from the urban centers. Cook is the urban Senator, a Louisville lawyer, who was justabout everybody's "Man of the Year" in Kentucky before he was elected to the Senate and became Ashland's man in Washington.

My associate, Jack Cloherty, spent a month establishing the links between Ashland and the Senator, an investigation which took Cloherty from Capitol Hill to Kentucky.

The likeable Cook, of course, had an explanation for everything. He acknowledged that he has accepted speech material from Ashland, but denied that it came in the form of ready- made speeches. He used several sources, he said, in the preparation of his speeches.

But insiders, whose reliability has been tested, reported to us that an Ashland emissary has delivered prepared and polished speeches to Cook's staff man on the Senate Rules Committee, Joe O'Leary.

The cautious O'Leary said he couldn't recall this happening, although he admitted working with Ashland in drafting Cook's energy speeches. He sought research from other industry sources as well, he said.

He contended that Cook was not "Ashland's man" and cited an issue on which the Senator and Ashland disagreed. The record shows, however, that Cook has consistently fought for more incentives for the oil industry and has repeatedly gone to bat for Ashland. When the Canadian government threatened to cut off the crude oil supply to an Ashland refinery, for example, Cook raised an uproar.

The Senator argued that Ashland, a power in Kentucky, was a constituent and, therefore, was entitled to his senatorial services. But no other constituent, except possibly the tobacco companies, gets such devoted service from Cook.

He claimed at first that he had taken only "three or four" free flights in Ashland's plane. When we cited our evidence, however, he breezily acknowledged that he may have taken 20 to 25 free flights. Indeed, this is a low estimate, although his use of the Ashland jet has waned in the last year. He not only commuted to Kentucky on the oil company's plane but used it to ferry his entourage to the Kentucky Derby each year.

Cook has also collected at least $10,950 in campaign contributions from Ashland executives, including $1,000 from company president Orin Atkins and $500 apiece from Webb and his wife. Cook pointed out that Atkins, at least, gave a matching $1,000 to his Senate opponent, Gov. Wendell Ford.

Cook's benevolence toward the oil industry has not gone unrecognized, for that matter, by the Texas oil barons. He has taken in at least $7,750 in out-of-state oil money.

There is no doubt that Ashland Oil has sought out and systematically courted Senator Cook. The situation is an ominous reminder of the days when the robber barons controlled the Senate.

Inside Labor

by Victor Riesel

Meany calls it 'Nonsense': Europe's labor drives to put itself on corporations' Boards of Directors

WASHINGTON -- A strange phenomenon is seeping across the free world. And it's time to spotlight it: labor leaders abroad and some here believe the cure for many social evils, including inflation, is to give union chiefs a piece of ownership action. In fact, a piece of ownership itself though they use the word co-management.

The proposal is simple-- put the union officials on the corporate boards of directors. Free. Gratis. Simply because the union represents the workers in the plants.

In Britain, where I discussed it at length with national union officials and leaders of the governing Labor Party, they call it "industrial democracy." In Germany, "co-determination." In France, "co- gestion (management)." In Norway, a total "strategy for change" inside society.

This phenomenon isn't just a conversation piece in intellectual circles. As AFL-CIO leader George Meany, who believes it to be pure "nonsense," said recently: "There isn't a prominent labor leader in Germany ... that isn't on four or five boards."

And in Europe I learned of a worldwide International Labor Organization (ILO) conference on the subject held in Norway between Aug. 20 and 30. The U.S. was among the 60 tripartite national delegations sent to this Oslo "Symposium on Workers' Participation in Decisions Within Undertakings." No reference here to moving the bodies. "Undertakings" is ILO jargon for businesses. Our delegation consisted of five men, most of them quite skeptical, including Chase Manhattan Bank's very knowledgeable Paul Shaw, vice president, employee relations; Bill (Wimpy) Winpisinger, general vice president of the AFL-CIO Machinists, a tough bargaining trade unionist; Paul Weinberg, director employee relations, American Express Co. They were official U.S. delegates to this conference called by the ILO's Labor Law and Labor Relations Branch, headquartered in Geneva, Switzerland.

So you can expect the new "movement" to begin sweeping the U.S. What does America's Mr. Labor think of it?

"To me, it is an absolute piece of nonsense," George Meany replied recently, when questioned by a newsman.

Since virtually all foreign labor movements are led by Socialists and Communists, it's very much worthwhile, indeed, to put Meany's view on record.

"As part of a worker policy or a trade union policy, no," said Meany when asked about co- management recently.

"Completely, opposed to it, completely opposed to it. The German system is a case in point. The first system was called co- determination in Germany and we saw that develop. We told the Germans at the very outset, back in 1949 when this thing started, we told them we couldn't buy it. That is/was (sic) their business if they wanted to do it. And, remember, this was being done by a trade union movement that we helped to build -- the Western German Federation of Labor. We built it with American Federation of Labor money. We supported the organizers."

It's worth breaking in on Meany here to point out that this was during the era when the Soviets were pouring thousands of agents and millions of dollars into Western Europe to capture labor organizations everywhere. The AFL fought back. Note that the Stalinists used their GPU (KGB) to infiltrate.

But back to Meany:

"I was sending 1,800 Care packages over there every two weeks back in 1946 and 1947 to trade union representatives that had been in exile or had been in concentration camps under Hitler."

Meany adds: "Co-determination is absolutely and completely out. It will not work.

"Now, how does it work in Germany? Well, Ludwig Rosenberg (former president of the German Labor Federation) was on seven boards of directors of German corporations ... in the final analysis, I never saw a union that was worth a damn to workers unless it was free -- completely and absolutely free. Free to make its mistakes, free to gain its experiences and free to mature as a lot of unions have."

Meany concluded that co-determination "doesn't do a damn thing, in my opinion, for the workers."

Nor for the corporations, so far as I have observed in over 50 lands I've visited, where there is some co-management even to a slight degree on the shop- floor or "workplace" level as the ILO thinkers put it.

But the "worker participation" thing is growing. All sorts of conferences (many of them for private profit run by promoters who wouldn't think of giving their employes "co-decision making") are cluttering up meeting halls.

Actually, as Meany points out, German co- determination started as a move there after the war to guarantee there'd be no repetiton of Hitler's seizure of major corporations such as Thysen or Krupp. But it's gotten out of hand and extends far out of the coal, iron, steel, automotive and other big industries. It's working its way down to the local stores and soon enough the restaurants.

In the U.S. it's just beginning to flutter. But soon enough, those who fancy themselves the philosophers of American labor will begin pushing co- management. Then you can change your paper money into gold bars and bury them in the Swiss Alps.

Cinderella float named most outstanding entry

NEW MADRID — A Cinderella float was chosen the most outstanding entry in Wednesday night's 15th annual American Legion Fall Festival kiddie parade.

Top honors for the most unusual entry, titled "Support the New Madrid Indians", went to Dawn Weaks, 3, riding a miniature Shetland pony. She also took first place in the decorated pet division.

Riders on the Cinderella float, which also took first place in the float category, were Laura, Charlotte and Christy Cravens, Angela, Michael and John Allgier, Sara Rost, Charlotte Ramsey and the Cravens girls' mascot dog, Rascal.

Both entries received bicycles and $3 cash awards.

The second place float winner, titled "The Little Engine that Could", was entered by Justin and Holly Hunter, Christian and Eric Hunter, Mark and Becky Grobmeyer, Chad and Whit Henry and Malynne Ellington.

"Goldilocks and the Three Bears," third place entry in the float division, featured Kaki LaValle as Goldilocks, Laura Christy Carlson, Poppa bear; Rene Weaks, Mama Bear; and Matt LaValle, Baby Bear.

Christy Fowler and Keith Neal took first place as "Bonnie and Clyde" in the television characters division.

Second place winners were Timmy and Amy Lynn Prince and Amy Beaher, who portrayed a honey bee and two flowers. Jeff and Doug Glenn, dressed as Donald Duck and Micky Mouse, were third place winners.

Second and third place winners for the best decorated pets included: Missy Nowell and her dog, dressed as clowns, and Rachelle Jacobs and her dog, depicting Little Bo Pepp and her lamb.

Best decorated bicycle awards went to Emily Curtis, first; Bob Pulliam, second; and Vaughn Hornburg, third.

Headlining festival activities tonight is a Junior Miss contest on Main Street at 8:30 p.m. in which 21 girls will compete.

Entries, not announced earlier, include Donna Wren, 14, of Conran; Michaelle DeLisle, 15, and Lisa Phillips, 15, of Portageville; and Dana Hendricks, 14, Penny Kolwyck, 14, Ruth Canady, 15, and Glenda Marshall, 15, of New Madrid.

NOT SHORT OF WATER

NORWALK, Conn. (AP) — "Water is one natural resource that we'll never run out of," according to Robert B. Hilbert, president of the American Water Works Assn.

"Unlike other natural resources," says Hilbert, "we have as much water available today as we did thousands of years ago. And we'll have just as much in 2074 as we have today."

He noted that the increasing need to recycle water is generally not because of water shortages. "Economically," he says, "it is more feasible to repurify and recycle water after it has been used once than to develop new water sources."

Open house set Monday at Middle School

Harley Barnes, principal at Middle School, has announced a Parent-Teachers Association open house for Monday. Purpose for the meeting will be to allow parents to visit their childrens' teachers in the classroom and view the school facilities.

Hours for the open house are from 6:30 to 8 p.m.

Workshop set for Sikeston school staff

Student evaluation and the metric system will be the topics at workshops scheduled for Sikeston Public School staff which will begin after the close of school, Oct. 10. School will not be in session for students Oct. 11.

Elementary teachers will discuss the metric system. Professors Karl Muhlbauer and George Swancutt from the University of Missouri at Rolla, will direct the sessions at which time methods and techniques of introducing the metric system into the elementary curriculum will be considered.

Schools will have the major responsibility of preparing the nation to move from the old English system of weights and measures to the metric system. This transition is already underway with some schools already beginning to include the metric system in the mathematics curriculum as the Sikeston schools are preparing to do.

Secondary teachers will be concerned with student evaluation, grading and reporting to parents. Professors Wayne McElroy, Richard Francis, Robert Cook, Robert Skelton, and Don Amalon from Southeast Missouri State University will be the consultants. Parents and students are invited to attend the 6 p.m. session at the high school.

Women aware of dangers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Betty Ford's sudden ordeal with cancer has touched off a sympathetic reaction among women across the country and an awakening to the dangers they also face.

Ten thousand letters, more than 500 phone calls, over 200 telegrams and scores of flower arrangements have poured into the White House and Bethesda, Md., Naval Hospital since word came of Mrs. Ford's breast cancer operation Saturday.

Mrs. Ford was reported continuing to make a good recovery. A medical bulletin said she is on a regular diet and had gained almost full mobility of her right arm.

A spokesman for the American Cancer Society said telephones "have been ringing off the hook" with calls from thousands of women who want to make appointments with doctors and clinics for breast cancer examinations.

"It's a tragedy for Mrs. Ford, but she may have saved an awful lot of women's lives," said a spokesman for the American Cancer Crusade, which long sponsored an educational campaign to alert women to the need for early detection and period check-ups.

The outpouring of prayers, good wishes and hopeful advice from those who have recovered from breast cancer surgery like hers has been dramatic.

In only four days, the volume of mail at the White House appears to have exceeded anything First Ladies in recent years have received. Wives of senators have been helping Mrs. Ford cope with the flood of messages.

After more flowers arrived at the hospital than Mrs. Ford could possibly accommodate in the five-room presidential suite during an expected 10-day stay, President Ford appealed to those who might want to send flowers to contribute instead to the American Cancer Society.

It's still too early yet to tell how the donations to the cancer society will be affected by the appeal, a spokesman said. But even the White House is getting donations, many of them small although there was one check for $5,000.

A nun, who is a nurse in Teaneck, N.J., sent a "welcome to our club," message, reporting she celebrates her ninth anniversary of a mastectomy this month and has been encouraging others who have had them that they can live a normal life.

1 seriously injured in traffic

One person was seriously injured and four received minor injuries in two area traffic accidents Wednesday, the highway patrol announced today.

Pat Staggs, 27, of Dexter received serious injuries in a one- car accident at 11:20 p.m. Wednesday .3 mile north of Holcomb on Highway 25.

The patrol reported the accident occurred when a northbound pickup truck driven by Dwight W. Butler, 31, of Gideon Route One sideswiped a bridge railing, ran off the highway and struck an embankment.

The driver received minor injuries, and both men were taken to Dunklin County Memorial Hospital in Kennett.

Two persons received minor injuries in a two- car accident at 10 p.m. Wednesday on Interstate 57 three miles west of Charleston.

The accident occurred when an eastbound car driven by Dawn Gilliam, 19, of Charleston overtook another eastbound car, driven by Artis Ivory, 19, of Chanute Air Force Base at Rantoul, Ill., at a high rate of speed. The patrol reported that Mrs. Gilliam applied the brakes of her car, which skidded 88 feet and struck the Ivory car in the rear.

Both drivers and a passenger in the Gilliam car, Delmar Gilliam, 24, of Charleston, received minor injuries and were taken to Missouri Delta Community Hospital in Sikeston for treatment.

Billings approved for retention

SPRINGFIELD— Court of Appeals Judge William H. Billings of Kennett has been approved for retention as an appellate judge by the lawyers of the 44 counties comprising the Springfield District of the Missouri Court of Appeals.

Judge Billings received 405 favorable votes of the 439 ballots recently cast by attorneys in the judicial poll conducted by the Missouri Bar.

According to Clerk York Johnson of Springfield, the 92 per cent margin of approval for Judge Billings amounts to an endorsement by the lawyers for the Kennett judge's retention as an appellate court judge under the Missouri non-partisan court plan.

Johnson explained that the purpose of the Missouri Bar judicial poll is to inform the general public of the performance of judges selected under the Missouri plan.

Judge Billings, formerly circuit judge for Dunklin and Stoddard counties, has served on the Court of Appeals since January of 1972 and will be listed on the judicial ballot at the general election Nov. 5.

3 Portageville girls win honors

Miss Rosemary Scherer won top prize for best of show in the teen division. She was awarded a cash prize of $75. Her outfit was made of blue denim trimmed with red stitching. The jacket also had red buttons and hand embroidery on the back.

Miss Scherer is a junior at Portageville High School and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Scherer of Portagebille Route Three.

Miss Rene DeLisle won first place in the sportswear class in the teen division and received $25 cash. Her blue and white double- breasted pantsuit was made of 100 per cent cotton.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe DeLisle of Portageville and is a senior at Portageville High School.

Miss DeLisle also received a blue ribbon in the cake-decorating contest. Her cake was made in the shape of a teapot, and was decorated with white icing with pink roses and trim and had matching teacups.

Miss Emily Eftink was second alternate in the formal class in the teen division. She recieved a cash prize of $10. Her floral dress was made of 100 per cent cotton with a honeycomb weave and accented at the V-neck with a blue rose. Miss Eftink is also a junior at Portageville High School and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Eftink of Portageville Route Three.

Prior to the Sew With Cotton contest, all three girls had been winners in 4-H competition.

Sugar prices rise sharply in 10 years

By WANDA ATCHLEY
Daily Standard
Stoddard County
Bureau Chief

Housewives paid 39 cents for a five-pound bag of sugar in 1964, according to newspaper ads placed in local newspapers dated Oct. 9, 1964. This is almost unbelievable when compared to today's $2.15, an increase of $1.76 per bag, about 550 per cent.

I discovered these old newspapers recently while visiting a friend's home while she was in the midst of fall house- cleaning. After reading the various ads in the 1964 newspapers, we set out to visit local supermarkets and other merchants to compare them with today's prices. We were amazed at the results.

A 38- ounce bottle of cooking oil which sold for 59 cents in 1964 is now $1.98, an increase of $1.39 or 336 per cent a bottle

A one-pound can of coffee could be purchased for 59 cents in 1964. Today coffee sells for $1.39. Ground beef and bologna sold for 39 cents per pound. Consumers today must pay 99 cents. Cake mixes were advertised in the 1964 newspaper at two for 49 cents. A box of cake mix today averages 89 cents.

Beer drinkers in 1964 could purchase a six pack of any leading brand for 89 cents. A six pack of beer today will cost an average of $1.80.

According to prices compared, food, fuel, automobiles and accessories have shown the biggest increase in the last 10 years.

For instance, one automobile dealer advertised a medium priced 1964 model with full power, automatic transmission, radio, heater and white walls at $2,820, a small price when compared with today's prices. Moreover, this was a close-out price on the 1964 models.

Antifreeze sold for $1.39 per gallon in 1964. According to a Bloomfield merchant, his current price is $6 per gallon, and he expects the price to increase even more.

Can you believe snow tires at two for $19.90 or batteries at $8.88?

Another item showing a huge increase is gasoline. It was possible in 1964 to purchase gasoline as low as 29.9 cents per gallon at some service stations. The average price today is 52.9 cents per gallon — an increase of 23 cents per gallon.

In the 10- year period, many prices have doubled and in some cases have tripled or more. Thus, it is understandable why the spiraling prices have affected everyone, regardless of income.

Ann Landers

Husband is not blind to affair

Dear Ann Landers: A woman I work with (she is also a friend of mine) took a job with this company several months ago and is now having a red-hot affair with the boss. I am actually a third side to the triangle, but she doesn't know it. I want her husband.

He is the kindest, most honorable man I have ever met and he doesn't have a clue that his wife is cheating on him like crazy.

The boss has bought this woman some stunning (and very expensive) clothes and is building her a new home not far from his own residence.

I am itching to tell Mr. Blind-As-A- Bat what is going on, but if I do he will be terribly hurt, in addition to which he might guess my motives. I'd appreciate some on-target Ann Landers counsel. —Want Him Like Mad.

Dear Mad: M.Y.O.B., Lady. That husband might be blind as a bat, but he's not an idiot - and he can count, can't he? Surely he knows whether or not he can afford those stunning new clothes and that beautiful home that's going up. Me thinks the bat is in your belfry.

Dear Ann Landers: I am writing a letter that could save some lives. I hope you will print it.

The lifeless body of a 17-year- old high school senior lies in a casket today. The funeral will be tomorrow. He was a passenger in a car driven by another teenager. The boy who was driving had no legal right to be behind the wheel. His license had been revoked the week before. When he had the accident that killed his best friend he was exceeding the speed limit. The boy had been in trouble with the police at least four times because of his recklessness.

My question is, why didn't his parents ground him? Isn't that what parents are for? Is it not their responsibility to take control when a child demonstrates such poor judgment that he is dangerous to himself and others? Even wild animals cuff their young when they misbehave.

I hope every parent whose child drives a car will read this carefully and give serious thought to the driving history of his teenager. The time to crack down is BEFORE there's a funeral. —Another Mourner.

Dear Friend: Thank you for a letter that is sure to shake up some people. I hope teenagers especially will not view it as an attack or an attempt to limit their freedom. It is intended as an effort to keep them from killing themselves - or a friend.

Dear Ann Landers: Is there any SURE way to stop a deluge of unwanted mail? You once advised a woman who asked this question to write across the envelope "Return To Sender." Well, I tried it and the Post Office returned an enormous catalogue to ME and I had to pay the postage.

An insurance company in Pennsylvania sends us six identical, bulky envelopes of advertising at frequent intervals. A nursery in Iowa sent ten identical seed catalogues within ten days, all unsolicited. Such nonsense is a waste of paper, postage and man-hours. Now what, Ann? - Kaysee Mo.

Dear Kay: Go the the Post Office nearest your home and ask for the form that stops unwanted mail. Fill it out and return it. This form will be sent to the source of the unwanted mail requesting that your name be removed from their mailing list. (P.S. Sounds like some computers in Pennsylvania and Iowa went bananas!)

Discover how to be date bait without falling hook, line and sinker. Ann Landers's booklet, "Dating Do's and Don'ts," will help you be more poised and sure of yourself on dates. Send 35 cents in coin along with a long, stamped, self- addressed envelope and your request to Ann Landers, P. O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Cape Central defeats SHS tennis team in close match

Sikeston High School's girls tennis team lost a close 6-4 match to Cape Girardeau Central Wednesday afternoon in Cape Girardeau.

The teams were tied after the singles matches, but Sikeston lost the decision when both of its double teams fell.

The SHS girls played without their No. 2 player, Mary Lowney. Gail Strickland, had to be substituted in her place at the last minue, according to Coach Berta Scheurenberg, who said the freshman replacement did an outstanding job against her senior opponent.

The most exciting match occurred when Marilyn Neel, the No. 3 SHS player, and her opponent played to a 9-9 tie. In the tie breaker, the Cape player won 5-3 to take the match, 10-9.

"Cindy Davis, our No. 6 girl, played an outstanding match in beating her opponent, 10-8," the Sikeston coach said, adding that Cindy is a "real hustler and plays hard."

The coach also complimented Mary Sikes, who has now won both of her matches this season.

Lynn Bizzell had another strong game, Mrs. Schuerenberg said.

"The girls are still really enthusiastic, and I think we're improving with every match," the coach reported.

Individual scores, with Sikeston girls listed first, were as follows:

Jeannie Vines lost to A. Vangilder, 8-6; Gail Strickland lost to S. Jones, 8-5; Marilynn Neel lost to T. Price, 10-9 in a tie breaker; Lynn Bizzell defeated D. Lovingood, 8-3; Linda Green was defeated by A. McKee, 8-2; Cindy Davis beat T. Ramsey, 10-8; Mary Sikes beat K. Cardonmier, 8-4; and Susan Drumm beat D. Rustmeyer, 8-3.

In doubles play, Jeannie Vines and Melissa Lee of Sikeston lost to A. Vangilder and A. McKee, 8-2, and Melissa Eaves and Nancy Bohannon lost to T. Price and D. Lovingood, 8-2.

The Sikeston team will take on the Cape Central girls again at 4 p.m. Monday on the Sikeston courts.

Every mother should make sure her children are eating an adequate breakfast. In cool weather start them off with a bowl of hot oatmeal, topped with ready-to- use canned fruit cocktail. Both oatmeal and canned fruit cocktail are favorites with the young crowd and are quick and easy to prepare.

Drain canned cling peach slices and place cut side up in shallow baking dish. Broil about three inches from heat about 10 minutes. Meanwhile blend one-fourth cup parmesan cheese, half cup mayonnaise and one tablespoon chopped canned green chili or half teaspoon chili powder. Serve over peaches.

Straining for the ball

Jeannie Vines, a member of the Sikeston High School girls tennis team, watches the ball carefully as she prepares to lob it back to her opponent during competition Tuesday in Sikeston. The team played again Wednesday at Cape Girardeau and lost a 6-4 match to Cape Central High School.

SHS B- team wins

The SHS B-team took two straight games by scores of 15-9 and 15-4 to win its match. The A-team won the first game, 15-11, but fell to the Notre Dame team in the next two games, 15-13 and 15-5.

In the A-team match, Notre Dame came back from the first game to eke out the 15-13 second game decision. A service fault was called on Sandy Spurlin of Sikeston during that game to break up her five- point streak when the score was 14-13, and the Notre Dame went on to take the game- deciding last point.

The third game seemed to be only a serving spree as one of the Notre Dame team members served 11 straight points en route to the 15-5 margin.

Susan MacLaughlin can be given credit for leading the Sikeston scoring attack, as she contributed a total of nine points in the first game of the match. Her overhead service pattern proved very effective, as most of her serves slammed past her opponents.

In the B-game, Kelly Hill contributed 12 points in the two games to lead the Bulldog scoring. Emma Wells and Jane Buchanan contributed several more points with consistent serving.

The first home outing of the season for the Sikeston teams is scheduled at 6:30 p.m. Monday in the field house against Poplar Bluff.

On Tuesday, the team will travel to Bloomfield for a 6:30 p.m. outing.

NEWS BRIEFS

Best Flower Buys In September

The full complement of autumn hues -- golds, reds, purples, copper and burnished greens -- are adding a regal touch to florists' shops this month, reports the Society of American Florists. Field-grown flowers in plentiful supply in September include straw flowers, Marguerite daisies, asters, gypsophila, and statice. Potted plants in abundance include mums, gloxinia, African violets and a wide selection of green plants. Popular flowers in excellent supply include roses, gladioli, mums and pompons.

Portageville club plans charter trip

PORTAGEVILLE— The Bess Truman Club met Sept. 26 at Hickory Village in Portageville to finalize plans for the charter trip to Independence and Kansas City.

Club members and others joining the tour will leave Friday morning, and return Sunday evening. They plan to visit the Truman Library and hope to meet with Mrs. Harry Truman.

Anyone wanting to make the trip may contact Mrs. Clyde Essary, president.

Several club members and local citizens were in Poplar Bluff Friday night to meet Alabama Gov. George Wallace at the Truman Day Rally.

The next regular club meeting will be at 12:30 p.m. Oct. 24 at Billy's Lounge for lunch.

Sikeston coed chosen for elite KU band flag corps

LAWRENCE, Kan. — Theresa Schuchart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Schuchart of Sikeston, Mo., Route Four, is among the 250 University of Kansas students selected for the 1974 KU marching band. Dr. Robert E. Foster, band director, terms the list of musicians as representing "The largest and most select group in the history of the KU band.

Miss Schuchart is a freshman majoring in music therapy and will perform in the flag corps of the band. Only 16 members perform in the flag corps.

The marching band, which plays martial and popular band music, performs at all home football games and presents special halftime shows. The first performance of the band was Saturday at the football game between KU and Florida State University.

Foster, who is beginning his fourth year as University Band director, said the group also plans to travel to Manhattan for the K.U.-K.S.U. football classic on Oct. 12, and has tentatively scheduled a trip to Stillwater, Okla., Nov. 2, for the K.U. - Oklahoma State contest.

He explained that each time the group performed, only 220 members will be on the field, (192 musicians, 16 flag corps members, and 2 drum majors) but that all 250 will practice with the band, go on the trips, march into the stadium and play in the stands. Since conflicts prevent all members from attending any event, theoretically each of the musicians will be able to perform in the marching group at least once during the season.

Terry Metcalf (21) looks for room to run on his way to a 94-yard touchdown gallop against the Cleveland Browns Sunday afternoon. The Big Red are off to their best season yet, chalking up wins in their opening three games. Coach Don Coryell will match his defensive strong Cardinals against the 49ers in San Francisco Sunday afternoon.

Big Red face 49ers Sunday

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. – The St. Louis Cardinals (3-0), who have not started a season with four straight victories since 1966, will be shooting at that mark Sunday when they battle the San Francisco 49ers (2-1) in Candlestick Park. Kickoff is set for 3 p.m.

St. Louis captured its third straight game last Sunday with a 29-7 victory over the Cleveland Browns before 43,472 fans in Busch Memorial Stadium. It is the fastest start for the Big Red since 1966 when the team won its first five games and tied Dallas in its sixth.

The 49ers, after opening the season with road victories at New Orleans (17-13) and Atlanta (16-10), lost in their home- opener Sunday to the rugged Cincinnati Bengals, 21-3.

Against the Browns, the Big Red defense sparkled for the third successive week and after a sluggish first half, the Cardinal offense perked up in the third quarter for 22 points to put the game away. Once again, it was the big play that set up the victory.

Despite being outgained in the first half, the Big Red nonetheless led, 7-0, at halftime on corner back Norm Thompson's 56- yard interception return touchdown. The Cardinals then doubled their output when Terry Metcalf took the opening kickoff of the second half and scooted 94 yards for a TD.

After the Browns scored to close the margin to 14-7, the Big Red came right back and took a 20-7 lead on a 68-yard pass from quarterback Jim Hart to wide receiver Mel Gray. Later in the period, Jim Bakken added a 44- yard field goal and running back Donny Anderson scored from one yard out.

The Big Red defense -- currently tops in the National Football League in fewest points allowed with 20-- held the Browns' offense to only 93 rushing yards, well below the average of more than 200 Cleveland took into the game. Greg Pruitt was held to only 21 yards on eight carries.

"We were very surprised and very pleased to score this many points, coach Don Coryell said, "because we think so much of Cleveland. We really needed the interception return (by Thompson) because it seemed like nothing we did on offense could go right in the first half. And Metcalf's kickoff return was a tremendous run."

The Cardinals will be making heir first journey to San Francisco since 1968 and this will be their first game ever in Candlestick Park. The series between the teams is tied at three victories apiece

Following the game, the Big Red will play the Dallas Cowboys on Sunday, October 13. The game is scheduled for St. Louis but will be moved to Dallas if the baseball Cardinals win the National League Eastern Division title. In that case, the return meeting between the teams -- set November 3 in Dallas -- would be moved to St. Louis.

BUZZARDS BAY, Mass. (AP) — Jim Ard, dropped by the Philadelphia 76ers, will start at center when the Boston Celtics meet the Buffalo Braves in a National Basketball Association exhibition game.

The 6-foot-9 Ard, who will be available when he clears waivers today, will fill-in for Dave Cowens, who will be sidelined for at least another week with a leg injury, the team announced.

Murray blasted; Clayton only star

MURRAY, Ky. — "We don't have any excuses," Murray State Coach Bill Furgerson said of his team's 26-0 loss at Tennessee Tech last Saturday. "They were mentally ready for us, they defensed us well, they were very aggressive, and they took full advantage of our errors."

The loss was the first for the Racers this season and brought their record to 3-1 overall and 1-1 in the Ohio Valley Conference. They have an open date this weekend and will then play three straight games at home against UT-Martin, Middle Tennessee, and East Tennessee.

"We knew Tech would be a strong team, particularly on defense," Furgerson said. "They had nine of their defensive starters back from last year and they used their open date of last week to get ready for us. We also panicked a bit at their stiff rush and didn't take advantage of it as we are capable of doing.

"I think the fact that we had played in three straight, emotion - packed games also make it hard for us to be emotionally ready. In the OVC, where talent is so equal and depth so lacking, emotion is terribly important to winning.

"The loss really hurts, but the important thing now is to remember that we have seven more games to play and to set about correcting the mistakes we made last Saturday so we will be a better team the rest of the season."

The Racers could generate but little offense against Tech, and Don Clayton, with 92 yards rushing, accounted for most of it. He now has 395 yards for the season, an average of 98.8 a game and 3.9 a carry. Doug Sanders and B. F. Behrendt, first and second in receiving in the OVC last week, caught only one pass each in the game and have 14 and 13 receptions, respectively. Steve Martin averaged 41.7 on seven punts in the game and is averaging 41.9 for the season.

Leading the defensive unit, which Furgerson credited with a good game, were linebacker Don Hettich with 10 tackles and 8 assists, linebacker Alfred Caldwell with 7 and 8, and tackle Jay Waddle with 7 and 7.

Cards favored

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Aw, c'mon now! This can't be correct. It must be a misprint in the National Football League standings!

St. Louis and New England leading their respective divisions, both with 3-0 records?

And what's more, the Cardinals are very likely to still be first in the National Conference East and the Patriots No. 1 in the American Conference East after the fourth weekend of NFL action.

Of course the fact that the Cards and Pats are leading hasn't helped the old Pro Pigskin Picker's average. Last week, however, the picks climbed to 9-4 — most respectable showing so far this season. Over-all, it's now 23-15-1 and the average is .605.

And on to this weekend:

St. Louis (3-0) at San Francisco (2-1): The oddmakers like St. Louis by a field goal, but Coach Don Coryell should do better, so ... CARDINALS 24, 49ERS 17.

Baltimore (0-3) at New England (3-0): This was one of the few games the Patriots were expected to win in the preseason guessing ... PATRIOTS 31, COLTS 14.

Minnesota (3-0) at Dallas (12): The Vikings are favored by a mere two points in this replay of the 1973 NFC Championship game ... VIKINGS 17, COWBOYS 14.

Washington (2-1) at Cincinnati (2-1): The Bengals are favored by 4 1/2 but the Redskins are No. 1 in the NFC in total defense and No. 2 in total offense. Let's call for a mild upset ... REDSKINS 19, BENGALS 17.

Buffalo (2-1) at Green Bay (2-1): The oddsmakers like Buffalo, but only by four points. Look for O.J. Simpson to handle the situation with ease. BILLS 24, PACKERS 17.

Denver (0-2-1) at Kansas City (2-1): The odds favor Denver by 1 1/2 points, and the Chiefs are getting old. BRONCOS 17, CHIEFS 12.

Oakland (2-1) at Cleveland (1-2): Oakland hasn't given up a point in the first quarter for nine games ... RAIDERS 27, BROWNS 13.

Detroit (0-3) at Los Angeles (2-1): This game features the oddsmakers' biggest spread of the weekend, 15 points. But the 15 points could be worthwhile ... RAMS 27, LIONS 14.

Pittsburgh (1-1-1) at Houston (1-2): Another big-spread game — 14 points. But against Houston, the Steelers should roll to the tune of ... STEELERS 30, OILERS 10.

Philadelphia (2-1) at San Diego (1-2): The odds say Philadelphia will win by five points. It should be more. EAGLES 28, CHARGERS 7.

New Orleans (1-2) at Chicago (1-2): The Bears have lost some close ones and should win this one, close. BEARS 21, SAINTS 17.

Atlanta (0-3) vs. New York Giants (1-2) at New Haven: The Giants are favored by four points and that's really not too surprising when you consider how the Falcons have played lately ... GIANTS 21, FALCONS 12.

Cubs...no help

"I really think the Lord had something to do with this ballgame," said Pittsburgh catcher Manny Sanguillen. "I just thank God we were able to do it."

The Lord may have helped but Chicago catcher Steve Swisher didn't hurt either as the Pirates clinched the National League East Division championship Wednesday night with a wild 5-4, 10-inning victory over the Cubs.

Chicago had the game won with two out and a man on third in the bottom of the ninth. Cubs' right-hander Rick Reuschel struck out pinch hitter Bob Robertson for what would have been the final out but Swisher let the pitch get away from him for a passed ball and Sanguillen raced home from third to send the game into overtime.

One inning later Sanguillen drove in the winning run with a bases-loaded infield single and the Bucs were on their way to the National League playoffs. They wind up 1 1/2 games ahead of the runnerup St. Louis Cardinals who were rained out at Montreal. That game will not be made up.

Elsewhere, Los Angeles edged Houston 5-4 in 10 innings; Atlanta bombed Cincinnati 13-0; Philadelphia shaded New York 3-2 in 10 innings and San Diego dumped San Francisco 9-5.

Chicago unloaded on Pirate starter Jim Rooker for four runs in the firt and the Bucs spent the rest of the night playing catch-up.

Robertson, who celebrated his 28th birthday Wednesday by turning in the game's big play — the clutch ninth-inning strikeout — drenched Manager Danny Murtaugh, a non-drinker, with a gallon of milk.

Braves 13, Reds 0

Hank Aaron closed out his eventful season with his 20th homer, No. 733 lifetime, but refused to say it was his last game. He said earlier in the season this would be his last campaign, but has been having second thoughts lately.

Dodgers 5, Astros 4, 10 innings

John Hale singled and Lee Lacy doubled him home in the 10th to give reliever Charlie Hough, 9-4, the win.

Phillies 3, Mets 2, 10 innings

Padres 9, Giants 5

Wednesday's AL results: Baltimore 5, Detroit 4; New York 2, Milwaukee 1; Cleveland 8, Boston 6; Texas 2, Minnesota 1; Chicago 5, Kansas City 4, 12 innings; and California 3, Oakland 2.

Kaline era ends

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

They said goodbye to Al Kaline, finishing 22 illustrious seasons. And they booed ferociously when the goodbye came prematurely.

They said goodbye to Ken Aspromonte, about to be replaced by Frank Robinson, major league baseball's first black manager.

And they said goodbye to the season.

There were 24,812 fans on hand. Not a bad crowd for a baseball game. The only problem was, it was the crowd that showed up for the entire American League Wednesday.

But then, that's what happens when everything's tied up in a couple of neat little bundles, when nothing counts — except for the record books, the drives for the post-season awards, the pushes for next year's salary boost ... and for those hardcore fans.

Just for the record, Eastern champion Baltimore edged lastplace Detroit 5-4, Western winner Oakland lost 3-2 to lastplace California, Texas nipped Minnesota 2-1, Cleveland turned back Boston 8-6, New York downed Milwaukee 2-1 and Chicago beat Kansas City 5-4 in 12 innings.

Orioles 5, Tigers 4

Baltimore, relaxing after Tuesday's pennant clinching, used plenty of reserves and still beat the Tigers.

Enos Cabell, whose two-run, tie-breaking double in the seventh inning enabled the Orioles to conclude the regular-season with their ninth consecutive triumph.

Kaline was happy to see his career concluded. "I'm glad it's over. I really am. I don't think I'll miss it."

He got ovations in the first and third innings when he batted. In the fifth, the crowd started booing loudly. They had spotted Ben Oglivie in the ondeck circle instead of Kaline.

It turned out that Kaline's shoulder was bothering him. "I didn't know if I should play or not ... Everybody wanted to have me hit my 400th home run, but no way could I swing hard enough to hit a home run. I could have played but I could only punch the ball."

Angels 3, A's 2

California's Denny Doyle singled with the bases loaded in the bottom of the ninth inning, capping a two-run burst that finished Oakland's season on a low note.

Rangers 2, Twins 1

"I think either Jim Hunter, Mike Cuellar or I will win the Cy Young Award," Ferguson Jenkins said after finishing the season with a 25-12 record by winning 18 of his last 24 decisions. "I'd like to win it, sure, but those other guys certainly deserve it too.

Indians 8, Red Sox 6

Cleveland will break a racial barrier once again with Robinson's appointment. It was the Indians who, in 1947, had the American League's first black player, Larry Doby.

Robinson said goodbye to his 1974 playing days with a bang, driving in two runs, one of them with his 22nd homer of the year and 574th of his career.

But it was Rusty Torres' homer, opening a two-run ninth, that enabled Gaylord Perry to finish at 21-13.

Yankees 2, Brewers 1

White Sox 5, Royals 4

Chicago scored a run in the 12th inning without a hit, Kansas City reliever Bruce Dal Canton wild-pitching in the winning run.

In the National League it was Pittsburgh 5, Chicago 4 in 10 innings; Los Angeles 5, Houston 4 in 10; Philadelphia 3, New York 2 in 10; San Diego 9, San Francisco 5, and Atlanta 13, Cincinnati 0. St. Louis' game at Montreal was canceled.

BOSTON (AP) — Joe Buzas, owner of the Pawtucket Red Sox of the International League and the Bristol Red Sox of the Eastern League, is adding another club to his 1975 operations.

Vaught slated for wildlife banquet

Richard W. Vaught, superintendent of the Migratory Wildlife Division for the Missouri Conservation Commission will be the keynote speaker for the Ducks Unlimited banquet at the Ramada Inn, Oct. 21 at 6 p.m.

Tickets for the event are available at Homestead and Marks Food Mart and can be purchased from members of the board of Swampeast chapter of Ducks Unlimited. The event will be limited to 400 people.

A number of door prizes will be available, including a Remington 870 commemorative shotgun and a 14- foot john boat, along with several hundred dollars worth of other gifts.

The highlight of last year's event, an auction that raised over $3,000 for the group, will also be held. Among the items to be auctioned will be a Harley Davidson trail bike and framed wildlife pictures.

Senate votes to cut off aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 48-34 roll call by which the Senate Wednesday adopted a foreign aid bill amendment to cut off military aid to any country using U.S. supplied arms for aggression included:

Republicans against: Pearson, Kan.

Missed field goals in the National Football league now have the ball returned to the line of scrimmage or the 20-yard line, whichever is father from the goal line.

Center official addresses FFA

EAST PRAIRIE — "Agriculture — Today and Tomorrow" was the topic of an address by Chuck Cromwell, superintendent of the University of Missouri Delta Research Center at Portageville, at the annual Future Farmers of America parent- member banquet Tuesday night in A. J. Martin Elementary School.

Slides depicting agriculture in the year 2000 and the concept of farming under glass were used by Cromwell to illustrate his remarks. He noted that the basic challenge faced by the agriculture industry — the world's largest and most important industry — is the problem of hunger throughout the world.

The East Prairie FFA chapter has an active membership of over 100 members and is one of 232 chapters in the state.

Health care charitable, attorneys tell court

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Promotion and the care of health itself is a chart-table purpose, lending private hospitals tax-exempt status, attorneys for three Kansas City hospitals have told the Missouri Supreme Court.

In attempting to convince the court to uphold the current taxexempt status of the private facilities, attorneys outlined Wednesday the unreimbursed patient treatment given by the three hospitals from 1967 through 1971, which totaled more than $10 million.

But attorney Stanley Christopher, representing Jackson County, which ordered St. Luke's, Baptist and Research hospitals to begin paying property taxes, argued that the facilities earn a profit and give preference to persons who are able to pay.

He told the court that net profits for the three institutions in 1971 alone amounted to nearly $4.2 million.

Hospital attorneys countered by saying that the facilities are open to anyone and that the hospitals incur great expense in treating patients under Medicaid and indigent patients transferred from Jackson County Public Hospital.

Profits from the facilities, they claimed, go into debt retirement, modernization of facilities and training of doctors and nurses.

Following the county's attempt to collect $2.7 million in tax from the three hospitals, an effort supported in Jackson County Circuit Court, the state Tax Commission appealed the matter to the Supreme Court, seeking retention of the tax-exempt status. The commission was joined by the Missouri Hospital Association.

7,569 students enrolled at SeMo State

CAPE GIRARDEAU--- At the end of the first four weeks of the semester, 7,569 students were enrolled at Southeast Missouri State University, registrar Alton Bray reported to the university's board of regents Friday.

If the university had counted 206 students who enrolled in school but withdrew prior to the end of the first four weeks of classes, the fall enrollment would have been 7,775, Bray said.

This figure-- 7,775-- would compare with the enrollment figure of 7,669 reported a year ago at this time when 122 students who withdrew were included in the total reported to the state.

The registrar told the regents that the university's practice of reporting students who withdrew during the first four weeks was halted following a directive from the office of the Commission on Higher Education received after last fall's enrollment totals were announced. Last year's spring semester did not include such students.

Bray noted, that until the arrival of the directive, state guidelines on enrollment reporting were unclear on whether withdrawn students should be included in official totals. University officials still believe they should be, he said, on the grounds that the school must be prepared to accommodate all students who show up for a given semester.

In any event, Bray told the board, if you subtract from the enrollment reported in the fall of 1973 the students who withdrew from the university, you still come up with an increase for the fall of 1974.

The basic reason for the stability of the enrollment at the university is a freshman class nearly 700 students larger than last year. This year's freshmen number 2,835, compared to 2,182 in the fall of 1973.

All of the other classes showed slight declines in numbers, the result of smaller freshman classes in the early part of this decade, following 10 years of steadily increasing enrollments.

The breakdown of students which Bray presented to the board showed 7,183 students on campus, compared to 6,993 a year ago. There are 386 students enrolled in classes sponsored by the university at off- campus locations, compared to 676 a year ago.

Undergraduate students at the university number 6,682. A total of 860 persons are working on master's degrees, and 27 are studying for specialist in education degrees.

Letters to the Editor

October 1, 1974

Dear Managing Editor:

The following letter was sent today by ITT to Jack Anderson concerning serious errors of fact made in his column for distribution October 2, 1974.

Sincerely,
R. H. Sykes
Director of Public Information
International Telephone
and Telegraph
New York, N.Y.

October 1, 1974

Mr. Jack Anderson, Columnist
1401 16th Street, N. W.
Washington, D. C. 20036

Dear Mr. Anderson:

Your column distributed for publication October 2, 1974, contains serious factual errors and mis- statements concerning International Telephone & Telegraph Corporation, its employment of John Ragan, and alleged approaches to the Chilean military in 1970.

First, the publication of John Ragan's activities in Chile is an old story and omits a key fact. ITT informed the Associated Press on September 18, 1973, in response to a request from the AP Washington Bureau, that ITT had sent Mr. Ragan to Chile at Dr. Allende's request, NOT merely the "invitation of the army and police," as your column states.

ITT told the AP then that during Dr. Allende's first few months in office, he became convinced his communications were being compromised. He asked the Chilean Telephone Company if it could provide him with the technical assistance to determine the extent of the bugging and to clean it up.

Since the Chilean Telephone Company didn't have this capability, but wanted to respond, it forwarded the request to ITT World Headquarters. Our security director, who handles such matters, reviewed several outside consultants and selected Mr. Ragan. Your own column testifies to his reputation in that field.

ITT did not learn that Ragan was working for the Republicans in 1970 until three years later.

The second and most serious error in the column is the distorted reprisal of your first ITT- Chile column in 1972. You say:

"But as we reported on March 21, 1972, ITT had made approaches 'to select members of the Armed Forces in an attempt to have them lead some sort of uprising' in late 1970, only a few months before ITT and the Chilean army helped arrange Ragan's visit."

This is not true, as a reading of the Church Committee transcript would have shown. ITT made no approaches of any kind whatsoever to the Chilean military at any time. Your apparent evidence for that statement is a memo from ITT Vice President William R. Merriam to ITT Director John A. McCone. In it, Merriam discusses what he learned of the activities of the Central Intelligence Agency, which apparently included approaches by that agency, to the military.

The fact that ITT would comply with a request from Dr. Allende to its very vulnerable Chilean subsidiary should not be "puzzling" at all.

The decision to send Mr. Ragan to Chile to assist Dr. Allende was consistent with the Chilean Telephone Company's policy (and ITT's policy) of cooperation with the Allende regime, until its properties were expropriated without compensation.

Nothing else can be inferred from it, and the attempt of your October 2 column to do more is completely in error and without justification in fact or in spirit.

I think a correction based on the record of the Church hearings is in order.

Sincerely,
Robert H. Sykes
Director of Public Information.

Mr. Pat Curry
Sikeston Senior High School
Sikeston, Missouri 63801

Dear Mr. Curry:

I had occasion to observe the Cotton Carnival Parade across the street from where the Sikeston Senior High School Band was waiting to take its place in the parade.

As bands from the other schools would come by that location your students applauded them.

This was quite a thrill for me; particularly, there was an extraordinary applause for the Charleston High School Band when it came by.

I wanted to compliment the students involved for the very good character they showed in extending such a warm and friendly reception ot the students from other towns. The conduct and behavior of your students indicates that they are a really fine bunch of people and I know you must appreciate working with them.

Sincerely yours.
THOMAS R. GILMORE

'Judges should be retained'

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — All of Missouri's judges under the nonpartisan court plan should be retained in office in November, according to a poll taken of Missouri lawyers.

The poll, conducted by the Missouri Bar Association, included only judges who will not be on the political ballots. Under the nonpartisan court plan, the judges are appointed and voters merely vote for or against retention in office.

There are no Supreme Court judges up for a retention vote this year. The Supreme Court and appellate judges serve terms of 12 years; the circuit judges, six years; and the probate judges and magistrates, four years.

Up for retention will be judges on the courts of appeals, and the circuit and probate judges in Jackson County, St. Louis County, St. Louis city and Clay County.

The Platte County probate judge also will be up for retention.

6 treated

High court says authority unconstitutionally delegated

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Failure to specifically designate each statute affected by the recent bill lowering the majority in Missouri to 18 unconstitutionally delegates legislative authority, the Missouri Supreme Court has told.

Attorneys for St. Louis County Prosecutor Gene McNary told the high court Wednesday that the majority rights bill, which says that whenever the age 21 appears in the law it should be changed to 18 except in cases involving alcoholic beverages, gives the revisor of statutes unconstitutional discretion because age limitations are phrased differently in the various laws.

The limitation phraising, attorneys Anne Carpini and Steven Goldman pointed out, range from "age of 21," "before the 21st birthday" and simply "minor," and attorneys for both sides acknowledged that there has never been a definition of age of majority in Missouri until the majority rights bill of 1974.

McNary obtained a temporary restraining order from the high court in August against County Circuit Court Judge Harry J. Stussie and the court clerk, preventing them from adding 18, 19 and 20-year-olds to prospective jury lists until the court ruled on the constitutionality of the majority rights measure.

While members of the seven-judge court continually asked questions of the attorneys on both sides, George R. Gerhard and James H. White, representing Stussie, said they found 120 laws through a computer check that would be affected by the majority rights measure.

The justices, led by Chief Judge Robert Donnelly, repreatedly asked whether juvenile courts, previusly with jurisdiction to age 21, would lose jurisdiction over delinquents 18 years old and whether persons between 18 and 20 would still be guaranteed free state education as they have been in the past.

On the question of whether child support would end at 18 if all laws were changed under the bill, Gerhard said he believed that was the legislative intent of the act.

Robert M. Sommers, representing the attorney general's office, said he could not speak for Atty. Gen. John C. Danforth on the effect of the majority rights bill on education, juveniles and child support.

Both Gerhard and White, however, pointed out to the court a Missouri law which changed the name of circuit and county attorneys to "prosecuting attorneys" without explicitly citing every statute involved, but the judges noted that law did not grant or deny any rights.

During the last session of the legislature, a 50-page majority rights bill was introduced in the House, citing each statute involved and amending it by changing the age. That measure, however, was dropped in favor of a shorter version.

Students build home

New Madrid County R-1 Vocational- Technical School building trades students are working at the construction site of a new brick and frame house that will be occupied by a deputy sheriff on the grounds adjoining the New Madrid County jail. The county is furnishing the building materials in a cooperative project for the students to gain on- the- job skills training.

NEW MADRID—Construction has started on a new, modern, brick and frame house for a deputy sheriff's residence on the grounds adjoining the New Madrid County jail in a cooperative project between the county and New Madrid County R- 1 Vocational- Technical School students.

The county is furnishing the building materials, at an estimated cost of $13,000, and first and second year building trades students are doing the work under the direction of instructor B. J. Rooker.

The structure measures 26 1/2 feet by 66 feet, which includes an extra large attached carport that will also house the county ambulance.

The three- bedroom house will contain two baths and will be centrally heated and air conditioned. Electrical wiring will be installed by students in the school's electricity classes.

J. D. Patton Plumbing of Portageville will install the plumbing and heating systems.

Rooker said he has 18 students who work at the site for two hours in the morning and 13 are receiving construction training in the two- hour afternoon session.

In the two- week period since construction began, the block foundation has been completed and the sub-flooring laid. Students are now studying blueprint measurements and marking partitions and window and door openings preparatory to raising the frame walls.

If outside construction can continue at a steady pace, which depends on weather conditions, Rooker said the students will work inside during the winter months toward completion of the house in the spring.

Scabies on the increase

Scabies, a parasitic skin infestation considered extinct in the U. S. until 1971, is on the increase. And, according to Drs. Steven J. Hodge and Lafayette G. Owen, reporting in the Journal of the Kentucky Medical Association, unless physicians become familiar with the "itch mites," the condition may be misdiagnosed and mistreated.

Scabies should be suspected in any patient with an intense, unexplained itching, which is worse at night, the dermatologists advise. Diagnosis can usually be established by microscopy, and "treatment regimens are effective." One that they recommend is gamma benezene hexachloride (Kwell) applied after a bath and removed 48 hours later by a bath.

Scabies are transmitted from person to person. "The groups that are most affected are those regarded by sociologists as 'the most sexually promiscuous,' " the authors state.

Lions to renew sponsorship

In his annual report to the club, Scoutmaster Roy Nall said he is giving up the scoutmaster position next year. Joe Booth will take over the leadership position, he said.

Nall has been scouting for 32 years and a scoutmaster for 20.

Former Lions District Gov. Tom Roberts, a member of the Sikeston club, received the 100 per cent district governor award. The award was sent from Lions International and presented by club president Bill Neel. The award was given for Roberts' service as district governor.

Letters to the Editor

Editor:

It is too bad that Mr. Eagleton refuses to have a debate with Mr. Curtis. Some of the issues that all Americans are interested in, and a candidate's position on them, are; inflation, taxes, growing bureacracy, crime, national defense, gun control, the welfare system.

The outcome of all these questions depends on every American who still has the power, through the ballot box, to determine the future of this country.

Widespread airing of these issues would be a good way to start - and a small price to pay for maintaining this nation's greatness. If any voter is trying to find out Mr. Eagleton's position on REAL issues, it would behoove him or her to look else-where than the news media, who has him speaking out of both sides of his mouth. I'm in favor of a debate.

Dear Mr. Blanton:

I appreciate it very much if you would print the enclosed letter as soon as it is convenient for you. Thank you for your considerstion in the past.

Dear Editor;
"Pardon Me Please"

Pardon me for violateing my oath of office and for crime on its way up passing morality on its way down — for an era when greed replaces honesty for a trend under my leadership when might replaces right, for being the protector of the constitution while at the same time I denied many people thier constitutional rights, for silenceing the inquisitive minds — pardon me for influenceing the great religeous leaders of our time into backing my lawless regime, for haveing no mercy on free thinking people who dissagreed with my policies, for my ballance of payments of deficits which were the greatest in history, for my personal devaluation of the dollar, which is the first time any President ever cheapened America's money for my habit of favoring giant companies which helped put more people on welfare than all presidents before me, have no mercy on those who fled our country to avoid Vietnam but pardon me for keeping my son in laws safe at home while I sent over 20,000 Americans to thier deaths. Pardon me while I was America's leader for our nation becomeing discontent and for our young people loseing confidence in Nixon and Agnu and drifting from our churches to the dope dens, from the sunday school classes to the abortion mills. Pardon me because I created unprecedented inflation and deficit spending, but most of all give me Richard Milhous Nixon a full, free and absolute pardon for income tax fraud, for crimes I committed , for crimes I might have committed and for crimes I might been involved in.

W. T. Woods.

Transportation council adopts 6-point policy

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — The new state Transportation Policy Council has delayed any decision on whether to participate in a plan to obtain federal grants because of insufficient information on the program.

But the council, at its third meeting Wednesday since being created through state reorganization, adopted a six-point policy statement.

Although the council said it would secure the additional information on the federal integrated grant administration program from federal officials at its next session, Chairman Rober L. James said some members expressed concern about the plan.

"Members of the council are concerned about adding another insulating body to applying for federal grants instead of streamlining the process," he said of the plan, which enables public agencies to apply for a number of federal assistance grants through a single application.

The policy statement calls for consulation on transportation facilities and policy, exchange of information, comment and review of proposed plans for existing and suggested facilities, evaluation of present and future transportation needs, investigation of technical improvements and development of coordinated policy plans for all types of transportation.

Pens passed to witnesses

After signing a proclamation declaring October as 4-H Month in Missouri, Gov. Christopher S. Bond, seated, passes out the pens used to sign it to witnesses to the ceremony. From left are State Rep. Ed Bohl of Harrisonville; Miss Mary Nell Greenwood, director of programs for the University of Missouri Extension Division; Frank Graham, director of extension youth programs at University of Missouri- Columbia; Mrs. Donna Ham of Marble Hill, Mo. extension youth specialist for the Southeast Missouri area; Dale Ludwig of Oak Ridge, president of the State 4-H Council; Ray Call of Cape Girardeau, chairman of the Missouri 4-H Foundation's board of directors; Mrs. Call; Mrs. Arlene Hitchings of Belleview, 4-H volunteer leader; and Miss Dorothy Haynes of Portageville, Bootheel area representative on the State 4-H Council.

October is 4-H month

COLUMBIA — The unveiling of a plaque in Ironton Friday to commemorate the 60th anniversary of 4-H club work in Missouri, will kick off a heavy October schedule of 4-H events in the state.

In honor of this anniversary, the 25th anniversaries of both the International Farm Youth Exchange (IFYE) program in Missouri and the Missouri 4-H Foundation, and other special events, Gov. Christopher S. Bond has proclaimed October as 4-H Month in Missouri.

In the Ironton ceremony, which will begin at the Iron County Courthouse at 1:30 p.m., a plaque will be unveiled to commemorate the 60th anniversary of the founding of the first 4-H clubs in the state there in 1914.

Oct. 6 is National 4-H Sunday, which will initiate National 4-H Week, Oct. 6-12, according to Frank Graham, director of extension youth programs at University of Missouri- Columbia.

Special church services in Missouri and other states will recognize National 4-H Sunday, he said, and National 4-H Week will feature 4-H member project exhibits, radio and television spots, special 4-H sections or editions of newspapers and countywide 4-H leader and member recognition events.

"Many 4-H clubs in Missouri will reorganize and take in new members during National 4-H Week," Graham said, "And annual area 4-H leader conferences will get underway." More than 52,000 Missouri youth are enrolled in 4-H, Graham said, under the leadership of nearly 15,000 adult volunteer leaders.

A major regional 4-H event, the annual interstate show in St. Joseph, will draw several hunderd 4-H members and leaders to East Hills Shopping Center on Oct. 9-12, where they will exhibit 4-H projects, give demonstrations, and participate in a talent show and dress revue.

As many as 1,000 Missouri 4-H'ers from the Northwest part of the state are expected to participate, according to Jack West, MU extension youth specialist for the A-B-C-D area. The interstate show will also feature 4-H work from northeast Kansas, southeast Nebraska and southwest Iowa, he said.

Another four- state regional event -- the American Royal 4-H Conference -- will involve 4-H members from Missouri, Oklahoma, Kansas and Iowa in Kansas City Oct. 19-21. About 165 delegates will be from Missouri.

An additional 200 Missouri 4-H members are expected to show entries at the American Royal Livestock and Horse Shoe in mid- October. In a related event -- the American Royal 4-H Livestock Judging Contest -- two separate four-person teams from Missouri will compete in meats and livestock judging Oct. 16 and 18, respectively.

Earlier in the month Missouri's 4-H dairy judging team will attend the National 4-H Dairy Conference in Madison, Wis., and then go on to Columbus, Ohio, to compete in the National 4-H Dairy Cattle Judging Contest. Four other Missouri 4-H'ers have also been chosen as delegates to the national conference in Wisconsin.

Silver anniversaries will be celebrated by the Missouri 4-H Foundation at a special luncheon at UMC Oct. 25 and by the Missouri alumni chapter of IFYE at a Nov. 30 banquet at UMC.

The foundation was established Oct. 10, 1949, as a nonprofit educational corporation through which private citizens, organizations and businesses could support the Missouri 4-H program, Graham said.

In honor of the first Missouri IFYE in 1949, the state alumni association, headed by Sam Swan, extension youth specialist in the Show-Me area, will invite all Missouri families who have hosted inbound IFYE delegates in the past 25 years to the Nov. 30 banquet.

"We are inviting more than 500 persons," Swan said. He said that since 1949 the Missouri IFYE program has sent 89 former 4-H members abroad to 38 countries and has had 162 exchangees from 48 nations visit here.

Swan, who is also vice president of the national IFYE alumni association, said that Missouri will host the national meeting of the group in 1976.

Highway commission to meet

JEFFERSON CITY— The Missouri State Highway Commission will meet Oct. 9 and 10 in the hearing room at the highway building in Jefferson City.

Scheduled delegations will be heard by the commission on Oct. 9, and other commission business of a routine nature will be transacted.

On Oct. 10, other routine business not transacted the first day will be conducted.

NORELL
by Norman Norell
The first great perfume born in America. Crisply elegant. Crackling with Norman Norell's fashion authority. And like everything Norell, its lasting power is marathon.

The Perfume Paquettes
Norell separates. The latest thing. Small foil envelopes with perfume-saturated pads, for fragrance touch-ups no matter where you are.

The Perfumed Milk Bath

The Perfume
The Original. The most potent form of a great fragrance.

The Perfume In-A-Pot
Concentrated Norell. Perfume that glides on like a gel. Invisible to the eye, but never to your senses. Easy to use, and an elegant new purse accessory.

The Perfumed Soap
Norell to the last sliver. The cream-of-luxury soap—richly scented and rich lathering.

The Spray Perfume
Sheer Norell. In a distinctive pouch or purse-size flacon with the luxurious look of fine jewelry.

The Cologne and The Spray Cologne
The full-length Norell. Clings to every inch of you as if made-to-measure. And there's that no-mistaking-it, lasting scent everyone recognizes.

The Perfumed Bath Powder

The Roll-On Perfume
The New Non-Stop Norell. Chic purse-sized opaline bottle designed for toting and traveling. Cannot leak or spill. So you never waste a precious drop.

The Perfumed Bathing Oils
Great way to wear Norell head-to-toe. Essential oils moisturize and scent... do flattering things for your skin and ego.

The Perfumed Spray Bath Powder

The Perfumed Bodylustre
Under-statement by Norell. Scents while it slakes the thirst of skin: sleeks it all-over with emollients.

Prayer for today

from the Upper Room

"O that I had wings like a dove! I would fly away and be at rest." (Psalm 55:6)

PRAYER: O God, our Father who hast planted within us longings for a higher life, teach us to use the means of grace which Thou has provided for us. May we become in truth what Thou wouldst have us be. For the sake of Jesus, who taught us to pray. Amen.

"HEALTH TIPS"

Cleanliness is the key to keeping minor cuts minor and free of complications. Resist the urge to put a cut to your mouth or blow on it. Instead, wash it immediately with soap and water. When the wound and surrounding skin have been cleansed, hold a sterile gauze pad over the cut until the bleeding stops.

What's the law?

The case of the carefree criminal

By: JACK STRAUSS, LL.B.

Looey choose a life of crime primarily because the hours were optional. Hy enjoyed a gay and carefree life and resented any restriction.

When it looked like the police might catch up with him, however, and the "free" might be removed from "carefree," Looey hurriedly sought out a priest for advice and, in doing so, confessed all of his crimes to him.

Shortly thereafter, Looey's worst fears materialized. He was captured by several policemen and was charged with several serious crimes. And, while his life started out as one little cell, it looked like he might end up in one big cell when the priest was called upon to testify as a witness against him.

"Not in this case," retorted the prosecuting attorney. "Not only wasn't Looey a member of the priest's parish, he wasn't even a member of the priest's religion. Consequently, there's absolutely no restriction on the testimony of the priest."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE,would you permit the priest to testify against carefree Looey?

This is how the judge ruled: NO! The judge held that confessions by a penitent to a clergyman for spiritual advice and or comfort is privileged even though the penitent is not a member of the clergyman's religion or church. For a penitent, concluded the judge in effect, there's no such thing as the wrong church or the wrong pew.

DR. LAWRENCE E. LAMB

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Your article about bursitis prompts me to suggest something to your readers that I discovered several years ago by accident. I suffered from bursitis for many years. Extremely painful shoulders caused me to have to exercise each morning, but the exercise was painful and time-consuming. One cold night I wore a sweatshirt to bed and discovered the next morning that my shoulders felt better than they had in years.

Cool nights in the Southwest and cold winters in the East probably expose many people to situations similar to mine. People don't seem to realize that with conventional blankets on our beds that our shoulders are frequently exposed to the night cold without our being aware that they are much colder than the rest of our bodies.

My acquaintances often kid me about the habit I have developed of wearing a sweatshirt to bed, but I can assure you that it works very well to ward off aching shoulders. My condition had been diagnosed by a physician as bursitis, and I was told that the only thing to do was to continue the exercises that were already a part of my daily routine.

DEAR READER — An excellent suggestion. Many readers have found that warm socks at night help prevent leg cramps. Cooling the muscles leads to muscle cramps and stiffness. I'm sure that a warm garment over the shoulders and neck could help a number of people. In this winter of fuel crises your suggestion is particularly welcome.

DEAR DR. LAMB — In reference to your column on the mother who was an alcoholic, my family was appalled that you made absolutely no mention of Alcoholics Anonymous. This organization and its related group, Al-Anon, help millions of families that haven't found the least bit of comforting advice in a psychiatrist's office.

Alcoholism is an illness — not a sign of severe problems. It might be to your advantage to become better informed about Alcoholics Anonymous and, if you see fit, in the future give more prudent and realistic advice to those in need of help! I, myself, am not a member of A.A.

DEAR READER — Don't get so excited! If you were a regular reader of my columns you would know that I have previously recommended both Alcoholics Anonymous and Al-Anon. The latter, as you know, is for the families of persons with an alcoholic problem. I think they are both fine organizations, and both serve a real need.

Now, won't you admit you overstated your case a little bit? And, won't you consider that regardless of your own experience with alcoholics, perhaps in your family, that not all such problems are alike. Alcohol is often part of a serious psychological problem needing psychiatric help. Individuals who have evidence of real psychological problems, as the mother in the case you asked about did, need professional help. Why try to downgrade either the psychiatrist or Alcoholics Anonymous. Both serve a useful purpose.

Marine band to perform

CAPE GIRARDEAU — The United States Marine Corps Band, "The President's Own", will make its third appeaance in Cape Girardeau on Veterans Day, Oct. 28.

Sponsored by the Cape Girardeau Rotary Club, the Band will give an afternoon performance at 1 p.m. for students of the area. The evening performance will begin at 8 p.m. Both concerts will be in the Arena Building.

All proceeds, above expenses, will go to charitable causes. Three-fourths of this year's proceeds will go to crippled children's work in Southeast Missouri through the regional Easter Seal Center here. In prior years, the area Boy Scout and Girl Scout councils have been major recipients.

Tickets may be ordered by writing to: Marine Band Concert, Post Office Box 901, Cape Girardeau, Mo. 63701. Checks covering the number of tickets must be enclosed.

Food stamp changes proposed

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The U. S. Department of Agriculture has proposed amendments to food stamp program regulations which provide permanent procedures for retroactively restoring a household's benefits wrongfully denied, delayed or terminated through administrative error. Since January, interim procedures have been in effect.

In the proposed regulations, USDA asks comments on three methods for restoring lost benefits. All of the methods involve offsetting the household's purchase requirement with the lost benefit entitlement.

The proposed regulations differ from the interim procedures in these areas:

-- Recipients can receive lost benefits without going through the fair hearing process, if the client, food stamp caseworker and supervisor agree.

--Lost benefits will be restored only for the 12 months preceding the discovery of the error.

-- Recipients' lost benefits will be reduced by the amount of any outstanding claims against them.

THE RYATTS by Jack Elrod

Today in U. S. History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, Oct. 3, the 276th day of 1974. There are 89 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1952, the British exploded their first atomic bomb, in a test off the coast of Australia.

On this date —

In 1876, Johns Hopkins University opened in Baltimore.

In 1935, Italian forces invaded Ethiopia.

In 1954, a nine-power conference in London agreed that West Germany should enter the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Five years ago: The threat of a strike against major U.S. railroads was averted for 60 days as President Nixon set up an emergency fact-finding board.

One year ago: Willi Stoph was replaced by Horst Sindermann as premier of East Germany. Stoph became chairman of the council of state.

START A CHAIN RE-ACTION!©

By placing an economical Want Ad in this newspaper, you start a chain reaction that is sometimes unbelievable! You'll be amazed at the avid readership of this, one of the most popular sections of the paper. And no matter what you are offering for sale, you are almost bound to receive an active response, which in turn will generate a meeting and very likely a sale. The result of this chain reaction is a happy new owner and you . . . the seller with a handful of cash! This is a good time to place those extras around your house on the market. Get things started by placing your ad today!

Fruits and vegetables, as they ripen, tend to increase in water content. An apple seed, only 10 per cent water, will produce a ripe apple that is 80 per cent water. A ripe pineapple is 87 per cent water, a tomato is 95 per cent, and a watermelon is 97 per cent water.

On the other hand, a herring is 67 per cent water, a chicken 75 per cent, a frog 78 per cent, a lobster 79 per cent, an earthworm 80 per cent, and man has 70 per cent of his body weight in water.

Water is as vital as the air we breathe, yet we are careless with it. We pollute and waste it. By the time it reaches our homes, it contains every chemical and compound known to man. It is no longer the clean, fresh water that forms in the clouds.

CARL E. GORDON

BERNIE — The minister at funeral services scheduled at 2 p.m. Friday in Duffie- Rainey Funeral Home for Carl Eugene Gordon, 46, who died Monday, will be the Rev. Gene Langhofer, whose name was incorrectly listed as Gene Layne Hoefer in Wednesday's obituary notice.

WILLIAM E. EDWARDS

MALDEN - William Elbert Edwards, 86, a retired farmer, died Wednesday at Dunklin County Memorial Hospital in Kennett.

He was born Nov. 14, 1887 in Campbell to the late Thomas Ripley Edwards and Margaret Melvina Edwards.

On Nov. 6, 1910, he married Mary R. Bromley, who survives. He was a member of Bethany General Baptist Church.

Other survivors include one son, Cade Edwards of Kennett; one daughter, Ruth Hollick of Bakersfield, Calif.; one brother, Ed Edwards of Campbell; and four grandchildren, 10 great-grandchildren and two great-great- grandchildren.

Friends may call from 5 to 8 p.m. today at Landess Funeral Home, where services are scheduled at 2 p.m. Friday. The Rev. Fred Mammon will officiate.

Burial will be in Memorial Park Cemetery.

ROBERT E. GRAMMER

PEACH ORCHARD — Robert Eugene Grammer, infant son of Gary Grammar of Clarkton and Joflin Grammer of Peach Orchard, died Tuesday at his home. He was born June 21, 1974.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Virginia Grammer of Clarkton, and his maternal grandparents, the Rev. and Mrs. Junior Crane of Peach Orchard.

Services were conducted Wednesday at Tatum's General Baptist Church by the Rev. Lewis Willis.

WILMA LEE SIMPSON

VANDUSER — Wilma Lee Simpson, 38, died at 3 a.m. today in Poplar Bluff Hospital.

She was born Oct. 15, 1935 to David and Mae Wallace of Vanduser, who survive.

On May 18, 1956, she married Joe Simpson, who survives.

Also surviving are one daughter, Dena Simpson of the home; two sons David and Danny Simpson of the home; four sisters, Mrs. Leda Stage, Mrs. Frances Easter and Miss Judy Wallace of Vanduser and Mrs. Adil Watkins of San Jose, Calif.; and two brothers, Jerry and Bob Wallace of Vanduser.

Friends may call after noon Friday at Nunnelee Funeral Chapel, where services are scheduled at 2 p.m. Saturday with the Rev. Lawrence Ray, pastor of the Vanduser Baptist Church, officiating.

Burial will be in Forest Hills Cemetery near Morley

Lane, the street that will run directly to the building, has been graded. It will not be surfaced, however, until after construction is completed, Hill said.

The new building will be located on land purchased by the school board directly behind and south of the present high school building, which Hill thinks offers another advantage.

This way, he said, some of the facilities of the high school, as well as personnel, can be used by both groups and such an exchange of services, facilities and personnel will result in a monetary saving for the district.

"This will probably be the last major construction in the district for awhile," Hill said. "That is," he added, "unless something unexpected happens, like a major upsurge in population. And, of course, that's unlikely."

In order to win approval, the bond issue must receive a two-third majority of the votes cast in the election.

"I don't foresee any major problems," Hill said, looking ahead to the election and planned construction.

LIMON COMPANY FINDS A HOME

NEW YORK (AP) — The Jose Limon Dance Company, which is carrying on since the death of its founder, will make the 92nd Street Young Men's and Young Women's Hebrew Assn. its official home.

Mr. Carl Urbont, executive director of the Y, said that in the 1940s and '50s the building had been the modern dance center of New York. "It is our aim to revive that center," he said. He said the Kaufmann Concert Hall stage will be enlarged by 1975.

The company will rehearse, teach and perform at the YMHA. It has 16 dancers, Ruth Currier as artistic director and a technical stuff of three. It will work toward creating a repertory theater of American modern dance and also will continue to tour.

At the time of Limon's death, the company was denied the right to perform any of the works of Doris Humphrey. Now that the company has proved stable through the past year and a half, it has received permission again to include Humphrey works in its repertory.

World News in Brief

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has voted overwhelmingly to slash former President Richard M. Nixon's expense money to $200,000 but rejected an effort to cut off even his pension as repudiation for Watergate. President Ford originally asked $850,000 for Nixon. The House bill now goes to the Senate.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Betty Ford's sudden ordeal with cancer has touched off a sympathetic reaction among women across the nation and an awakening to the dangers they also face. A spokesman for the American Cancer Society says telephones have been "ringing off the hook" with calls from thousands of women who want to make appointments with doctors and clinics for breast cancer examinations. Meanwhile, more than 10,000 letters, 500 phone calls and 200 telegrams have poured into the White House and Bethesda Naval Hospital since word came of Mrs. Ford's breast cancer operation Saturday.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal prosecutors have linked one new name and may add others to the conspiracy case that has brought five Nixon loyalists to trial on Watergate-related criminal charges. A prosecutors' memorandum said new evidence made it necessary to add one co-conspirator to the list drawn up by the Watergate grand jury. It did not name the person, but a source close to the case confirmed the man is Richard Moore, the former special counsel to Nixon.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sheik Zaki Yamani, Saudi Arabi's petroleum minister, warns that another Middle East war could break out in the next six months if the United States does not force Israel to pull back all the way to its 1967 borders. However, if Israel yields all land occupied during the 1967 war, Saudi Arabia should be able to persuade all Arab members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries to sharply reduce current oil prices, he said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government is preparing contingency plans to divert some coal supplies from electric utilities and to embargo coal exports in the event of a miners' strike next month. These are among several measures outlined in a memo from the Federal Energy Administration to the Interior Department.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The end of cheap oil will force the industrialized nations to change their lifestyles, says Iran's finance minister. "Once cheap oil is no longer available, you have to do something: either lower your standard of living, forget about excessive consumption and about waste being an important part of your economy, or you have to increase productivity, or both," said Hushang Ansary.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — No major progress toward an Arab-Israeli settlement is expected during Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger's trip to the Middle East next week, a senior American official said today. Apparently trying to head off anticipation of a breakthrough, the official said all that is expected from the visits to Egypt, Syria, Jordan and Israel is an understanding of what may come next.

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The Dominican government has suspended negotiations with terrorists holding American diplomat Barbara Hutchison and six other hostages in the Venezuelan Consulate. "If they want to be tough, we'll be tough," the national police chief, Gen. Rafael Guzman Acosta, told local radio stations. He was apparently referring to a statement from the terrorists that their demands were not negotiable. They have demanded $1 million and safe conduct to Cuba and Mexico for themselves and 37 political prisoners. President Joaquin Balaguer has agreed only to send the terrorists in the consulate — believed to number six — out of the country.

MALDEN — Twenty-four contestants will compete in the annual Miss Malden beauty contest at 7:30 p.m Saturday in the Malden High School gymnasium. The event is sponsored by local merchants and the Malden Jaycee Wives. Dr. Larry Webster will act as master of ceremonies, and out- of- town judges will judge the contest. Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Radio auction set for Oct. 14

MALDEN - Malden Rotary Club's annual radio auction sale will be held Oct. 14-19.

The auction will be conducted over radio station KTCB with members of the Rotary Club serving as auctioneers. Bidding will begin at 5 p.m. each day.

More than 150 area merchants and businessmen have donated articles to be auctioned off.

Proceeds from the sale will be used for club civic projects.

Risco juniors to give play

RISCO - The junior class of Risco High School will present a play at 8 p.m. Friday in the high school auditorium.

The title of the play is "Mumbo-Jumbo", written by Jack Barnard and directed by the play's sponsors, Miss Peggy Sides and Mrs. Natalie Griffith.

Malden C of C to host dinner

MALDEN -- The Malden Chamber of Commerce will hold a dinner meeting at 7 p.m. Monday in the school cafeteria to discuss a bond issue for the city's waterworks and sewage and street systems.

Interested citizens, as well as chamber members, may attend.

Mainord arrested

NEW MADRID — Jimmy Lee Mainord Jr. of Lilbourn was arrested Wednesday and charged with driving while intoxicated and failure to yield right of way to an emergency vehicle.

He was released under $50 bond, according to City Marshal Virgil "Flip" Dees.

beatings while serving as jail trusty and has also been linked to beatings in the jail. He also reportedly has served as a farm hand for the sheriff. All of the allegations are reportedly under investigation by state and federal officers.

"He came to us with medical reports and a recommendation by his doctor that he be allowed to seek additional medical help for a blood circulation problem in his leg," Stephenson said. "If I had not granted his release and something had happened to him ... I would be facing a big law suit."

The former Missouri and Mississippi state penitentary inmate had his patrol revoked March 8 after being arrested in Stoddard County and charged with burglary and stealing.

"New Madrid County authorities were to have picked Butler up today after his hearing," Stephenson said.

Pat Staggs, who was seriously injured in the accident and Butler were both taken to the Dunklin County Memorial Hospital in Kennett.

Butler reportedly has recently been a patient at Methodist Hospital in Memphis for treatment of his circulatory problem and also spent 10 days in the Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital at Hayti recently.

And Ehrlichman posed a new problem for the judge: a claim that trial for conspiracy and obstruction of justice will place him in double jeopardy since Ehrlichman already stands convicted in the plumbers case.

The prosecutors' memorandum said the new evidence made it necessary to add one co-conspirator to the list drawn up by the Watergate grand jury. It did not name the person.

But a source close to the case confirmed the man is Richard A. Moore, the former special counsel to Nixon, who testified at the Senate Watergate hearings that he urged John W. Dean III to tell the cover-up story to the president.

Moore, who had been a holdover in the Ford administration, resigned Wednesday. The prosecutor's office had included Moore on its list of 44 prospective witnesses, largely because he was involved in some of the taped conversations that will be introduced into evidence.

At the time of his Senate appearance in July a year ago, the white-haired Moore was represented by Herbert J. Miller, retained by Nixon after his resignation.

The addition brought the number of unindicted co-conspirators to 20, according to sources. The only name that has surfaced officially is Nixon's.

The prosecutors indicated the list may be extended further, saying:

"The government may prove at trial that individuals other than those named as defendants or identified as co-conspirators by the grand jury were in fact members of the conspiracy charged in the indictment."

By the end of Wednesday's court day, Sirica had finished preliminary questioning of 315 prospective jurors, in public and private, and had excused 171 who said they could not be sequestered for the 3 to 4 months the trial might take.

The remaining 144 were to undergo more thorough, private questioning in the coming days. If a sufficient number survive questioning for possible bias, lawyers will have a chance to eliminate a specified number until 12 jurors and 6 alternates are seated.

CAPOBIANCO TO SAN DIEGO

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Tito Capobianco, opera producer and director, has been named artistic director elect of the San Diego Opera, effective this season. He will become artistic director upon Walter Herbert's retirement after the 1976-77 season.

Capobianco has conceived and directed many new productions for Beverly Sills at the New York City Opera, including "Julius Caesar," "Tales of Hoffmann," "Maria Stuarda" and "Roberto Devereux." He recently created a new "Norma" production for Joan Sutherland at the San Francisco Opera.
